

NATIVE SONS TO SEE LANDMARKS OF PIONEER DAYS

Committee Gives Details of Pilgrimage Through Land of Gold.

At today's session of the Grand Parlor, N. S. G. W., the supplemental report of the historic landmarks committee was presented by the chairman, Joseph R. Knowland. The report outlined the committee's activities, and tells of a number of romantic and interesting spots throughout the state. The report follows:

To the Officers and Members of the Grand Parlor, Oakland, Calif.

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

Since filing this committee's report arrangements have been made for a most unique pilgrimage into the forty-nine gold yielding territory of California, made famous by Bret Harte and which played a most important part in the early and romantic history of this state.

It is believed that no movement would result in arousing greater interest in one of this fraternity's chief objects, namely, the preservation of historic landmarks and the marking of historic spots.

ITINERARY TOLD IN OUTLINE.

Arrangements are being made by the Historic Landmarks committee and by Harry C. Peterson of the Division of Historical Research of the State Library. Mr. Peterson has recently made a preliminary trip on foot through the territory to be covered and obtained much information of value in mapping out the itinerary to be followed.

Tentative plans provide for leaving San Francisco and Oakland on the afternoon of Friday, May 19, proceeding as far as Merced that evening, gathering members at each city. Next morning the expedition will proceed to Mormon Bar, marking the site of the old Mormon home, and then stopping at Mariposa, marking historic spots and placing a tablet on the old court house built in 1854 and still in use. Lunch at Mariposa, then Mt. Bullion, on the Agua Fria, marking the site of the first court house, on to Hornitos that still retains a true "Forty-nine atmosphere," thence to Bear Valley, the old home of Fremont, marking its site, his old mill, the old company store, the famous Oso house, out past the ruins of its Chinatown, on over the wonderful old Fremont road down to Hell's Hollow, to Bagby, marking the site of the old Benton mills, then over a nine-mile grade, with most magnificent views of the great Sierras, to Coulterville, marking places en route. At Coulterville are many exceedingly interesting places seldom seen by the motoring tourist.

OVER FAMOUS BONEYARD HILL.

From Coulterville, via the Boneyard hill, the expedition will go to Priest's, running over to Big Oak Flat, where the site of the famous Big Oak, twelve feet in diameter when in its prime, will be marked and all that is left of the original tree will be placed in position and dedicated by the Native Sons.

From here on the party proceeds through the old mining territory, passing Jacksonville, the Shawmut mine, and on to Chinese Camp, once containing 5000 Chinamen, now but one remaining member of that race, and she a woman, "China Mary." Chinese Camp is full of ro-and called upon Mayor Louis A. Bartlett of Berkeley, Mayor Oliver Ellsworth of Alameda and L. H. Spivey, president of the Merchants' Exchange of Oakland, to arise.

Vocal and instrumental music between the speaking was a feature of the program and an orchestra played almost continuously while the members dined.

"Thirty years ago I presided over the destinies of the Native Sons of the Golden West," said Past Grand President Fitzgerald prior to presenting the first speaker. "And tonight as I look into the faces of the men here around me I am convinced that the future of the Native Sons is safe in the hands of our young men, just as our country is safe in the hands of our younger citizens."

The toastmaster paid a tribute to the junior members of the order and said that he knew they would work for the organization's success just as the older men had done in the past.

WELCOME BY CARTER.

Commissioner Albert E. Carter, acting mayor of Oakland in the absence of John L. Davis, was the first speaker called upon by the toastmaster and made a brief address in which he again welcomed the grand parlor delegates to the city.

"You men are here as representatives of California," he said. "Again I'll say Oakland is glad to have you here and if you have enjoyed your stay one-tenth as much as we have having you here we are satisfied."

District Attorney Ezra W. Decoto, a member of Oakland Parlor, No. 50, talked upon the young men of California.

"We hear a great deal about Northern and Southern California," Decoto said. "We hear a lot about the various places and the communities from which everybody is from. Each person here seems possessed with that great and good idea that his respective territory is better than any one else's. But the greater mental power does not lie in the north or south portions of California. It does not lie in any one place in the state, but in the young men of California, such as we gathered here tonight in the Native Sons."

"All of California lies in the power of your taking, if you have the will to take it. Everyone has the opportunity. The state of California can be as proud of you, young men, as she is of those many of whom are also here tonight, men whose hair is touched with gray. And when she is, you have accomplished your mission—you have touched your goal."

board of grand officers," said Grand Trustee Charles L. McEneaney, "and I have found those men working with a zeal for the best of this order. This order is built, is designed, to maintain and preserve the spirit of the brightest period of this nation—the days of the admission of California to the union."

"If we look back over the history of the world we see many nations trying to acquire the San Francisco bay, and then we see the sons of Columbus raising the Stars and Stripes. We conquered California, and the threats of foreign nations were forever dead."

McEneaney told of the gold rush to California in the days of '49, and said that this gold rush was the only one in the world in which any law, order and decency was shown. "There was one standard by which to test a man in the days of '49," said the grand trustee. "Was he honest and tolerant? If he wasn't he was not wanted though he sprang from the blood of princes."

"The war of the rebellion was then presented Grand President the thing," he went on, "that knit our country in the eyes of the world. It isn't the land and the water. It isn't the mountains or the rivers or the cities. It isn't even the people that make a country, but it's the intangible spirit of its people. And when that spirit is gone it still may carry the flag, but the nation is gone. That's the reason we carry the Bear flag. The spirit of '49 is the spirit that keeps us a nation, and that spirit the Native Sons are built to maintain."

The next speaker was Junior Past President James F. Hoey. Hoey told a brief history of the Native Sons and paid a big tribute to the present officers, particularly Grand President Traeger. "I have been a grand officer for seven years," he said, "but never have I sat in a grand parlor where there was a greater spirit and more things accomplished than this year under Bill Traeger."

GIFT TO TRAEGER.

The junior past grand president then presented Grand President Traeger, who will retire from office Friday, with a silver table set, "not for his service," Hoey said, "but as a constant reminder for our love for him."

William I. Traeger was the final speaker at the banquet. "The possibilities of an order, founded on the principles of this order, cannot be conceived by the human mind," he said.

"In my opinion there will be a time, and it is not very far away, when every state in the union shall have a native sons' organization. And not very far away either, is the time when some day a grand parlor, composed of delegates from every state organization, will meet together to work out the problems for national betterment and to further the teachings of our country. I am about to join the ranks of the past grands. I hope that my term of work as grand president has been one of benefit to the order. I have indeed tried to make it so. I believe it is our duty in the making of this order to build it."

mantle spots; evidence of gold diggings are on hand.

From this point on the party will enter into the land of gold, where literally hundreds of millions of gold nuggets were washed out in the early days.

TO COLUMBIA VIA SQUABLETOWN.

Beginning at Wood's creek the rich Sonora district will be entered. Entertainment will be furnished by the Sonorans and a large number of places marked, the Native Sons and Sonora Chamber of Commerce having already started the work. Thence to Columbia via Squabletown, passing the 300 acres from which $55,000,000 was taken.

At Columbia will be shown some intensely interesting places; thence to Shaw's Flat, where Jim Fair dug his first gold, on past Slum dam. Then comes the Bret Harte and Mark Twain district, so rich in historic memories. Tuttle town, thence on to the world-famous Jackson Hill, where the replica of the old Mark Twain cabin will be waiting to be dedicated. This will be a national event, and at the cabin the expedition will meet the visitors from the east and north.

Genial Bill Gillis, Mark Twain's old roommate, will welcome the crowd and bid them Godspeed as they leave for Angels, Murphy, Vallejo, San Andreas, with its lone Chinese, over into Mokelumne Hill, on down the grade to the river, up to Slabtown, Jackson, Volcano, Sutter Creek, Drytown, Amador, Michigan Bar and then direct to Sacramento, where the party will arrive Tuesday afternoon, May 23.

WILD WEST TO GIVE GREETING.

On the outskirts of Sacramento the expedition will be met by over 1500 Indians, cowboys, miners with old ox teams, with burros, with wheelbarrows and picks and shovels, Spanish dancing girls and Mexican miners.

Under this escort the party will proceed to Sutter's Fort, where the official welcome will be made.

This will be a wonderful opportunity for Native Sons and Daughters to become familiar with the history of the days of gold, a most important epoch in California history, visiting the towns and sites of towns which flourished during those stirring times and whose fame has been heralded in poetry and prose by writers who have won renown for our native state.

Let us make this trip memorable. We ask that this Grand Parlor give its hearty endorsement to the plan. Respectfully submitted.

LONDON, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fire broke out last night in the harbor district of Aalborg, a seaport of Denmark, spreading rapidly and covering an area of seventy acres by this morning, says a Central News despatch from Copenhagen. Enormous quantities of grain, timber and fodder were destroyed.

DEB'S PARDON SCORED.

The authorities of Alameda county, only a short time ago did something to uphold the laws of our country by prosecuting syndicalists, and to me one of the most sorrowful and deplorable things in the recent history of our country is the pardoning by the president of one who for so many years did his best to overthrow the United States. I refer to Eugene V. Debs.

"To the president, he would be in the southern prison where he belongs."

Byington's address was followed by applause which lasted for several minutes.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A FOUNTAIN PEN?

If So By All Means Buy It Here

If you are in the market for a fountain pen would suggest that you come direct to our store because we are agents for the Waterman, Wahl and Swan Pens.

These are three of the finest Fountain Pens made.

We carry a full line of models and extra parts. We have expert fountain pen men in our employ who understand repairing and adjustments and who are able to give you practically factory service. There is a distinct advantage in purchasing your fountain pens where you can go for repairs and adjustments with the assurance that the work will be properly done by men who understand the mechanism of fountain pens.

The Wahl Fountain Pen is probably the best pen to use if you take carbon copies of your writing. This is because the pen point is made of the highest grade of iridium.

You can put this pen point on a piece of glass at an angle of about 45 degrees and spread the points until the feed touches the glass. When you release it the points will spring back in place.

It came from Germany. We also have a big stock of scissors, cutting knives and other cutlery.

A GOOD POISON OAK REMEDY

When you think of poison oak, think of Taylor's Poison Oak Lotion.

This remedy, in the opinion of a great many people in this community, is the best cure for poison oak on the market.

We have been selling it for a great many years and thousands of bottles have been sold with the result that it is about the most popular remedy of its kind in this vicinity.

It acts both as a preventive and a cure. It does not stain the clothing and has no disagreeable odor.

When going into the mountains where poison oak is to be found, you should place an application of Taylor's Poison Oak Lotion on your hands and face. If you neglect this, and are afflicted with poison oak you will find that the same remedy will be most helpful as a cure.

POCKET KNIVES

We have a good stock of pocket knives. It is interesting to know that some of the best knives made in the world are now manufactured in America.

Before the war a good many pocket knives

A KNOCKER-OUT OF GREASE SPOTS

Better By Far Than Gasoline

Do you use Klenzol for cleaning purposes in your household? Klenzol is an especially prepared chemical combination for the removal of grease and stains from clothing and fabrics. It is not inflammable and for this reason is safe to use inside of the house. Furthermore it will not hurt the most delicate material and will remove almost any kind of a spot.

We have been selling Klenzol for several years and customers who have once used it swear by it.

Professional cleaners use similar chemical preparations which is the secret in removing stains that gasoline seems to have no effect upon.

SPRAY YOUR ROSES NOW.

This is the time to use Bowman's Rose Spray on your roses.

If you are not busy, the little green bugs are. One application of Bowman's Rose Spray as a preventive for the whole season. A 25c bottle of this spray is enough to take care of an ordinary garden.

If you want good roses you must take good care of the bushes and no bush can thrive and produce perfect blossoms if it is full of bugs.

See that all eggs are below the surface of the solution and you can then forget them as far as care is concerned, until you are ready to use them.

You can take the eggs out one at a time, as needed.

They will keep about 12 months.

BATH BRUSHES

Every person who enjoys a bath should have a bath brush.

We have them in a great variety at all prices.

The best bath brushes come from England and are made by Kent.

We also have a splendid line of Whiting-Adams Brushes. These people make the best brushes in America.

RUSSIA'S BILL TO ALLIES ITEMIZES BILLIONS DAMAGE

Claims Made Against Entente Powers; No Mention of United States.

MOSCOW, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.) A partly itemized bill for the billions of gold rubles which the Soviets plan to present at the Genoa conference for damage done to Russia is announced by the Russian official Bolshevik agency, the official news of the Russo-German treaty. The claims are against the entente powers; nothing is said regarding the United States. Among the items are the following:

Confiscation of the Czechoslovakian bank of gold valued at 15,000,000 rubles; gold valued by the Japanese of six large ships of the Amur flotilla, with pouches of gold valued at 1,000,000 rubles; the value of the ships is not estimated; Koltchak's destruction of 167 railroad bridges, valued at 20,000,000 rubles; and other railway property worth hundreds of millions.

The damage inflicted at Yaroslavl on the Volga is fixed at 52,000,000 rubles. Koltchak at Kazan confiscated more than 1000 pounds of gold, worth $41,000,000. The damage in Ukraine by Denikin and other raiders is placed at $50,000,000.

The Georgian treasury at Tiflis, according to this statement, was looted of 35 chests of gold, silver, diamonds and foreign currency estimated at 500,000,000 rubles.

In addition, the Georgian national museum lost a quarter of a ton of gold, 500 bars of silver, coins, pearls, rubies, diamonds and 100 cases of art treasures, including one Rembrandt, the value not estimated.

The loss of life in the four Ukrainian provinces from the Denikin advance and subsequent bandit campaigns is given in detail. In these districts, it is declared, more than 500,000 civilians were killed by the raiders, and, besides, there were 1000 pogroms, with a total of half a million victims.

nau, who signed the treaty, would be made the scapegoat, some reports going so far as to assert he would resign.

Leading French delegates stated that the Russian treaty was a "negotiation of the fact of resignation." Some reports said Chancellor Wirth of Germany did not approve the Russian treaty.

RUSSIA NOT BRITISH COLONY

Russia evidently intends to support the stand of Germany in opposition to the renunciation of the treaty, demanded by the allies. M. Tchicherin, soviet foreign minister, when asked today why notice of the negotiations had not been given, Lloyd George replied:

"For the simple reason that Russia is not a British colony."

When further asked whether the treaty meant also a Russo-German alliance, Tchicherin replied: "Wait and see. All the fuss made over this treaty is quite unjustified. I think it should be taken as a model for the conference. The Republic of the Soviets would be glad to conclude similar treaties with other countries, especially the United States."

INVASION OF RUHR VALLEY SUGGESTED.

PARIS, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Instructions sent by Premier Poincare to the French ambassadors in the capitals of the allies and fully approved by the cabinet, are to insist that energetic measures must be taken and penalties applied to Germany if the Russo-German treaty is not abrogated, regardless of what the Genoa conference may decide.

The premier's position is that there can be no more hesitation in the execution of the treaty of Versailles. He holds that the concessions of the allies to Germany has led to further resistance to the Versailles treaty on the part of the latter.

OCCUPATION OF RUHR VALLEY ADVOCATED.

Already there is much speculation concerning the penalties to be imposed upon Germany, as it is considered most probable that some action of this sort will be taken. The occupation of the Ruhr valley is the foremost suggestion, although there is authoritative opinion that the allies are unlikely to adopt the precise penalty which the Germans most expect and are perhaps best prepared to meet.

The financial and economic penalties provided for in the treaty, it is argued, would permit the allies to bring pressure of the most effective sort at much less cost and trouble than extension of the military occupation.

It was pointed out today that the Russo-German treaty had brought to light violations of the Versailles pact by Germany in respect to military materials, the Germans having, it appears, sold the arms which the Russian refugees had left in Germany, instead of handing them over to the allies' commission for destruction, as provided by the Versailles treaty.

By FRANK E. MASON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, April 20.—"If we can't prevent the Germans from uniting with the Russians, at least we can force Germany to respect the treaty of Versailles," Premier Poincare is quoted as declaring early today, by Marcel Huilin, writing in Echo de Paris.

"Not at Genoa will we settle this account," the premier continued. "We mean to enforce the sanctions to bring Germany to order. We demand that the allies, principally Great Britain, join us in obliging Germany to make honorable amends—not verbal but practical."

All of the French papers agree that drastic action in regard to Germany is absolutely necessary. Jouvencel, writing in the Matin, declares: "It is necessary to impose disarmament and payment upon Germany. Where? The Genoa conference is too late. Germany? There is still time."

Treaty News Causes Sensation in Baltic

RIGA, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—News of the Russo-German treaty has caused a sensation in the Baltic states which form a bridge between the two powers.

The Baltic states are very interested owing to their geographical position and the fact that the government-owned railroads traversing the different countries form the only connecting link between Germany and Russia.

Bank of England to Call World Parley

GENOA, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The sub-committee on currency yesterday again discussed the convocation of an international conference of central banks of issue, to which the federal reserve bank of America would be invited.

France proposed that the Bank of England should convene this conference. The proposal was seconded by Russia and carried.

Susan summoned all her strength to walk across the room to the instrument. Her fingers were cold and rigid. She bent them stiffly and pounded out chords. With returned assurance she started a popular air.

"That's right," said the burglar. "Jazz is what the boys appreciate. Make it lively and loud!"

The girl played until her arms ached, played in hope and fear. The scroll work on the piano in front of her seemed floating in the air, the music at times sounded far off and again rattled around her ears. She came over to leaning against the piano, and her strength. The burglar's curious cases of bodies up the stairs and piled them in the room.

"Keep on, girl, until we get them all carried to the machine," the leader commanded, turning to the door, he looked at the towering bulk of Patrolman Warren and a menacing brace of revolvers.

"You can stop playing now, Miss, and get out of the wagon," said Warren, who was all business. "And you birds keep your hands in the air!"

Warren did not ride with the burglar. "I'll stay and watch this stuff until the owner gets back," he said.

With the big patrolman's arm around her Susan fought off hysterics. After a while she smiled and said:

"Wasn't it lucky our signal was the piano?"

MISS BARBE DEMANDS HER PICTURES BACK.

Pictures for which Miss Barbe had posed were indignantly demanded back by her and when informed that they had already gone to the printer, Miss Lucy Stebbins, dean of women at the university, was called into the controversy.

Detail that she ordered the picture of Miss Barbe taken from the pages of the "Pictorial" was voiced today by Miss Stebbins. She admitted, however, that the matter was the subject of controversy between herself, the women involved and the student editors.

"The editors of the 'Pictorial' behaved very well in the matter," she said. "It was finally decided by the men and women of the campus that for the best interests of the university as a whole the picture would not be used. There was no excuse for such a thing as a beauty contest to begin with."

EDITORS ANNOUNCE CONTENTS OF ORDER.

Editors of the college publication refused to comment on the matter, other than to state "that there will be no prize beauty announced." Miss Barbe is equally reticent in discussing the affair and refuses to make any statement.

Here are the other eleven maids whose pictures were published in the last issue of the "Pictorial" and who, like Miss Barbe, threatened action against the college editors if their photographs were used.

FLIGHT OF YOUTH CHECKED BY WOMAN

"I am glad you came in this morning, sister. I must tell someone all my troubles. I wonder if you have noticed that James looks so much younger than me. Do you know I shrink from going out with him lately. He seems so young and buoyant and I sort of feel old and out of date. I am afraid I have been staying home too closely and have sort of lost touch; while James is out among people and meeting folks all the time. I must do something or I will be an old woman with a young husband."

"Well, I'll tell you frankly that I think the trouble is largely due to your clothes. James is five years older than you and you must not let yourself get shabby and looking old. You must go out more and keep up to date, even if it is an awful strain on you. And, my dear, you do wear clothes that are hopeless. I'll tell you what. Let's get you a whole new outfit—street clothes, party dresses, afternoon dresses, furs, hats and the whole works and have you all dolled up to surprise James."

"But that would cost a lot of money."

"James can afford it and, besides, it is more than worth it. Any way, I will take you to Cherry's at 515 13th street, and they will be more than glad to sell you on credit. You can get an entire outfit there and pay down practically what you like and finish up by making monthly payments."

Cherry's store for men is at 523 13th street.—Advertisement.

GIRL IS TAKEN TO DETENTION HOME.

At daylight she said she was just going to sleep when she heard a vigorous knock on the door and her mother's call, "Who's there?" A man's voice answered "The sheriff and his girl was forthwith removed to the detention house."

The police interviewed Curtis Morgan, the boy with whose pistol the shooting was done, but it was unofficially announced that no prosecution of him would follow.

The girl had told Morgan in the presence of his mother that she intended to go into the hills with some other girls and they were to teach her how to shoot, according to the police. The gun was given the girl while Mrs. Morgan was there.

Students Acquitted Of Stealing Flowers

BERKELEY, April 20.—Glenn E. Robinson, 2605 Durant avenue, and Stanley B. Westcott, 2419 Durant avenue, both university students, were freed this morning by Judge Robert Edgar of charges of stealing flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Helen Dille, proprietor of a college women's boarding house, at 2623 Channing way.

Patrolman Henry Hoar, the complaining witness, declared that the two youths were caught trespassing on the Dille property and exhibited white lilacs which were in the possession of two young women at the time the students were apprehended.

Judge Edgar in finding the boys not guilty declared there was insufficient evidence to warrant conviction. Robinson and Westcott were arrested by Hoar after Miss Athol Moore, a student at the university, had trailed them from the Dille home for several blocks.

Treasurer Wins in Fight Over Zone Law

BERKELEY, April 20.—For the second time Fred W. Foss, county treasurer, has been given the right by a jury to conduct a coal and lumber business on Center street between Milvia and Grove streets, a half block from the Berkeley city hall.

Neighbors, headed by Louis Blint, charged the county official with violating provisions of the Berkeley zone ordinance.

Foss in answering charges yesterday declared, through his attorney, James Koford, that the firm of which he is head was incorporated to engage in the lumber business before the Berkeley zoning law was framed and that under the provisions of that ordinance his yard was immune from action. The jury upheld him.

Gas helps you ## to keep your kitchen light and clean

KITCHENS in which gas is used for cooking are easier to keep light and clean.

Many makes of gas stoves are now finished in a light enamel, which fits harmoniously into the white or light finish that has become so popular for well-decorated kitchens. Light, bright tones throughout the kitchen are cheerful. They suggest the cheeriness of spring, and make the hours of toil seem shorter and more pleasant.

GAS is a clean, convenient Fuel.

It comes into your house and to the stove in a small, well-concealed pipe. Gas fires produce no smoke and their flames can be perfectly controlled. It is only necessary to open further a little valve when more heat is wanted.

The advantages of brightness and cleanliness in your kitchen, in themselves, are reasons for investigating most fully the many other merits of gas as a fuel for cooking.

Women's Clubs To Celebrate Their Majority

By EDNA B. KINARD

The California Federation of Women's Clubs comes of age this year. To celebrate the important birthday anniversary, a four-day party will be held in Los Angeles, beginning May 3, when the annual convention assemblies leaders from all parts of the state to give their minds to the subject "American Citizenship at Work and Play." The Bovard auditorium, University of Southern California, will give accommodations to the important conference of women to which the combined Los Angeles clubs will be hostesses. Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald, state president, has summoned the executive board to a meeting in the convention city on the day preceding the formal call to order. Department chairmen will be called upon for a foreword of plans and suggestions for the coming year. Each day, beginning at 9:30 a. m., round tables will be held by the state chairmen in preparation for the work of the new year.

A clubhouse exhibition will be featured during the annual meeting. The women's buildings in California are famous throughout the nation. Photographs of structures already erected and plans of those about to be built are being called for by the department of information and library service.

Motion picture theaters, home products campaign, the unemployment problem are among the important subjects scheduled for discussion. Trips through the moving picture studios and attendance upon the Mission play at San Gabriel are being arranged for Saturday, May 6, has been set apart for a demonstration of active citizenship. In Elysian park the Hans Andersen festival will be witnessed. Trips through parks and to places of interest will be taken by the visitors.

Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley is chairman of the local board arranging for the entertainment of the clubwomen's guests. Assisting her are Mrs. J. S. Trewhella, vice-chairman; Mrs. P. H. Greer, secretary; Mrs. Warren Holden, treasurer; Mrs. F. T. Bicknell, auditor.

Hotel Rosslyn, Fifth and M in streets has been named convention headquarters. Mrs. F. W. Fuller, 134 South Eastlake avenue, Los Angeles, is chairman of the committee on hotel reservations.

The comfortable sum of $7,099.51 was assembled by 29 of the 43 associations within the Oakland Federation of Mothers during the past year, according to the preliminary report of the financial secretary, Mrs. L. K. Beaver, this week. Returns from the other 23 groups are being assembled. After an expenditure of $5484.66 in child care work, the 29 associations have still within their treasuries the sum of $1753.39.

Because the funds will be little during the vacation period and because it has never been difficult for Mothers Clubs rapidly to reimburse their treasury when necessary, Mrs. Peter J. Kramer, federation president, has suggested that the local groups appropriate from their funds sufficient money to carry on the nutrition work in the public schools. The federation has undertaken to meet the cost of the mid-morning breakfasts of milk to the students suffering from malnutrition who cannot afford to pay for them. Unemployment and illness has created a deficit of $1000 during the past six months. The mothers are endeavoring to discharge this debt before the close of the school year.

When Mrs. P. J. Kramer retires from the federation presidency on July 1, she will be succeeded by Mrs. F. V. Volmer. The annual election took place this week. The newly elected board of directors numbers: President, Mrs. Volmer; vice-presidents, Mrs. F. E. Squire, Mrs. O. P. Cole, recording secretary, Mrs. H. K. Kooper; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. W. Campbell; financial secretary, Mrs. L. K. Beaver; treasurer, Mrs. P. L. Pense; auditor, Mrs. Lewis Smith; historian, Mrs. M. E. Soberanes; parliamentarian, Mrs. A. E. Thurston.

Radio music will be featured at the community dance for which Cole School Parent-Teacher association has planned in the school auditorium tomorrow night. Grow-ups and children alike are being urged to attend the unique party. The mothers are meeting at an all-day humble bee tomorrow in the community center. Their busy fingers will turn out new garments to be added to the stock in the Junior Red Cross Shop.

Big Sisters are meeting tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Oakland Young Women's Christian association building. A general conference is announced for 3 p. m.

DEATH THREAT FOR DANCER DEMANDS $10,000

Los Angeles Police Probe Attempt to Extract Money.

LAS ANGELES, April 20.—Local postal authorities are investigating a letter sent to Theodore Kosloff, dancer, demanding $10,000 under threat of death.

The writer of the letter specified a place where the money was to be left, at a time which has passed. Kosloff, instead of leaving the money, purchased a pistol, which he said he was carrying with him wherever he went. The letter contained the statement that a similar demand and threat had been sent to Mabel Normand, motion picture actress. Miss Normand said she had not received the communication.

Details of the letter were not made public. It was received early last week by Kosloff's wife, when the dancer was out of town. She took it to her husband's attorney, who communicated with the postal authorities.

THE LANDS OF THE FINE ESTATE

Before we started this Advertising Campaign some of these sales had been made of these properties, some of many years standing.

In order to find out what these buyers thought of their investment we wrote them all, asking whether or not they were pleased.

We received over 50 letters in reply, and every single letter was an enthusiastic boost for the property, for the manner in which they had been treated and for the project in general.

One man said he thinks our values will double and perhaps treble in a few years.

Another man, who has lived in Hayward 34 years, says he has never known a dissatisfied purchaser of our properties.

N. W. Armstrong of Hayward writes: "Nowhere in the State is there any land that exceeds the Meek land." Mr. Armstrong has known this property for thirty years.

"You bet I am satisfied," writes W. R. Layton of 111 Sixth St., S. F.

"The Meek estate for fertility of soil and location is unparelleled and the prices asked are reasonable," writes H. P. Ackerman of Hotel Irwin, S. F.

Allan G. Curry, the biggest pullet raiser in Hayward and one of the leading producers of fancy pigeons in the U. S., says: "The Meek properties are one of the most ideal spots in Hayward in which to engage in my line."

Fred C. Wood of Oakland "Wishes he could buy more of it," while F. W. Delaney writes: "This will necessitate our buying more Meek land."

E. P. Johnson of 1232 A street, Hayward, says he saw a hole 15 feet deep near the W. P. R. R. tracks, and "the soil appeared to be the same sort all the way down, a rich silt."

And so on and so on. Over fifty such letters. We have printed them in book form.

Send for them. Mailed free.

Don't take our word for the wonders of these properties. Read what other people say.

Or write to them yourself. We will give these addresses to anyone who is interested in buying.

NEW CIVIL WAR BREAKS IN CHINA; FIGHTING BEGUN

Severe Battle North of Peking; Foreigners Held in No Danger.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASER WIRE TO TRIBUNE
LONDON, April 20.—Civil war in China has begun, according to a despatch to the Daily Express today. Severe fighting is in progress north of Peking. Foreigners in Peking are not in danger, the despatch says.

AMOY, China, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—An anti-Christian movement, said to have started with the formation of twenty such organizations in Peking University, is spreading rapidly over China, according to reports reaching here. The agitation has reached Amoy University, the government schools, and other institutions.

Christian leaders and consular authorities express alarm at the extent of the movement, which is reported to be backed by Communist agitators.

PEKING, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The troops of General Wu Pei-fu, commander of Central Chinese forces, and General Chang Tso-lin, governor of Manchuria, now are only a few miles apart and both forces are not more than thirty miles south of Peking.

Chinese officials assert that talk of strife may delay the transfer of Shantung properties from the Japanese, as provided for in the Washington treaty. Commissioners from Japan and China are scheduled to meet soon at Shantung to decide upon prices of these properties.

Union Men Quitting Bakersfield, Report
BAKERSFIELD, April 20.—Jerome C. It was estimated that 100 carpenters, plumbers and electricians had already left the city.

F. N. Scofield, president of the industrial association, said that members of the builders' exchange and the industrial association were having no difficulty in obtaining men to work on construction jobs.

Clubwoman Uphold Minimum Wage Cut
The California Federation of Women's Clubs, through its executive board, has come to the defense of Mrs. Katherine Phillips Edson, prominent club woman and executive secretary of the industrial welfare commission, in the part she played in ordering a reduction in the minimum wage for women in the state. The following resolution was endorsed at the last meeting of the executive body, of which Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald is president:

"The state board of the California Federation of Women's Clubs expresses appreciation of the work done by Mrs. Katherine Phillips Edson in the interest of the minimum wage for women in this state and expresses confidence in the recent action of the California welfare commission in reducing the minimum wage for women and belief that this action has been taken after scientific careful consideration of wages and the cost of living in California."

"As Mrs. Edson is only one member of the commission we deplore that criticism of this action has been centered on her."

Broadway Cancels Arbuckle Film
As a result of the order of the film premier, Will Hays, Oakland will not witness the presentation of Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle in "The Traveling Salesman."

This was announced today by the management of the Broadway theater where the picture was scheduled to be shown today and tomorrow.

WAR DEBT BOARD READY TO BEGIN REFUNDING TASK

Small Chance That Money Can Be Secured to Meet Bonus Demands.

BY UNITED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, April 20.—The American foreign debt refunding commission has formally notified the nations owing the United States $11,000,000,000 in debts that it is ready to proceed with the refunding of the obligations. It was learned officially at the treasury department today.

Treasury officials in making this known today said the date of the inauguration of the refunding negotiations could not be determined until replies had been received from the allied governments.

Negotiations with Great Britain over the conversion of that nation's five billion dollar debt are expected, however, to be started within the next few weeks.

The debt commission, it was stated, is as yet without advice as to how the foreign governments will treat with it in the funding negotiations.

Under the most favorable circumstances, treasury officials declared, it was not thought possible that sufficient payments of interest could be obtained in time to provide funds for the soldiers' homes. Interest amounting to about $100,000,000 will become due from Great Britain in November, which of itself, it was stated, would be insufficient for bonus purposes. It also was said that such interest could, probably, would be needed for regular government expenditures.

AUTO RACING BAN OF HEARNE ASKED
LOS ANGELES, April 20.—A suit asking that Eddie Hearne, automobile racer, be enjoined from competing in the Raisin Day contests in Fresno, was filed in the superior court here yesterday by the Junior Orphan of Los Angeles, a corporation which controls a chain of theaters and in which it contends, Hearne is under an exclusive contract.

FRESNO, Cal., April 20.—Eddie Hearne will in Fresno on Raisin Day or be suspended permanently from automobile racing under the American Automobile Association sanction, Fred J. Wagner, official starter of the Raisin Day classic races, said here last night. Wagner had been informed that Hearne might be barred because a vaudeville circuit had asked an injunction to prevent his appearance here or in any other race while he was under contract.

"I don't believe that Hearne will break the race contract," Wagner said. "I believe that he will be in Fresno the early part of next week to participate in the Raisin Day classic."

Hearne signed a contract to race in the San Joaquin valley classic four months ago, according to H. E. Patterson, manager of the Fresno county chamber of commerce.

Stores Ready To Handle Rush Of Dollar Day
Wednesday, April 26, is Dollar Day. Everything is in readiness for the great spring shopping event in the Eastbay district.

Merchants participating in the buyers' holidays are ready for the rush attendant on this event. Arrangements have been made with the transportation companies for the crowds which trek into Oakland from a radius of fifty miles to take advantage of the bargains on sale.

The buyers have returned from the East laden down with choice spring bargains which will be offered at prices far below the average.

Corps of clerks are now being trained by the department heads for the handling of the crowds with expedition and efficiency. Hundreds of helpers are unloading the huge crates of goods shipped in for the Dollar Day sales.

Housewives and bachelor-buyers who participated in the preceding Dollar Days and took advantage of the price slashes coincident with Dollar Day are ready for the event.

History has told them that everything from pins to pianos will be offered at less than "popular price."

The stage is set, the actors are ready, the proprietors are prepared. All aboard for the Dollar Day excursion. Let's go.

ALL DEPENDS ON THE BOYS.
DULWICH, England, April 20.—To save postage, now very high, the famous Alcey's school will hereafter send monthly reports home by each boy instead of mailing them.

The Store---
that has become an institution in Oakland

The great big store of Kahn's is more than a store in this community—it has become a great big Oakland institution—an institution that people look to—one whose very progressiveness stands for all the high ideals of these Bay Communities. People shop at Kahn's with assurance, for they know quality is ever high—and that

Only worthy merchandise

JUDGE RULES HIS WIFE MUST SERVE ON JURY

CLEVELAND, April 20.—Judge Frederick P. Walther, presiding in Common Pleas Court, was examining jurors.

A woman summoned for jury service pleaded:

"Can't you let me off, Judge? You know I have a lot to do."

"That has nothing to do with it, madam," the Judge responded. "If I have my way about it you'll put in a week on the civil side and then round out with a week on the criminal side."

The juror meekly accepted her

AUTHOR GIVES NEW DEFINITION OF "FLAPPER"

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 20.—A flapper, according to Cosmo Hamilton, famous author, is a girl with a twelve-cylinder engine and a "fitney" body.

"She was caught in the unrest that followed the return of the boys from France," Hamilton states, "and is bursting with enthusiasm and vitality that she doesn't know what to do with."

She was Mrs. Frederick P. Walther, wife of the presiding judge.

WILD MUSTARD AND ORCHID IN DIVORCE COURT

Prima Donna Matzenauer and Chauffeur Mate Both Seek Freedom.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—"Orchid and wild mustard" are in the divorce courts.

Prima Donna Mme. Margaret Matzenauer and Chauffeur Floyd Glatzbach are the principals.

The diva is prosecuting her action in New York. Today Glatzbach, through his attorney, J. Maxwell Peyer, filed suit here.

Thus finally comes to an end the romance which had its inception when the famous opera singer, wintering at the fashionable Del Monte hotel, was assigned Glatzbach as a chauffeur.

In his divorce complaint Glatzbach seeks severance of the matrimonial bond contracted in Carlsbad, Austria, on the grounds of "grievous mental suffering."

"Orchid" may thrive in hot houses, but wild mustard needs the California sun," was his explanation of the separation when it first became known.

Glatzbach remained silent as to his side of the case until notice came to himself and other Monterey witnesses to appear at Monterey and give depositions in the divorce suit of Mme. Matzenauer.

Then Glatzbach decided to air his grievances and when he rebelled at assuming such duties as buttoning up the madame's dress frequent quarrels ensued.

That Mme. Matzenauer suffered from "intolerable jealousy," refusing to permit her husband out of her sight even for a walk.

That on one occasion in refusing to permit him to take a walk the diva "drew into a terrible rage and tore off her rings and threw them at the plaintiff."

That she tore up his photograph, remarking that she had "picked him up out of the gutter, clothed and fed him, and what would he do if she threw him out?"

That while abroad she introduced and talked about him in German which he could not understand, despite his request that she use English.

And the final straw was her charges that he had been intimate with other women. This came after their return to New York.

It is revealed that there was one reconciliation between the couple after Glatzbach had returned to California last winter, but it did not last.

LEGION HELPS 400,000 MEN TO LOCATE JOBS

INDIANAPOLIS, April 22.—The predominance of the temporary job and the pitiful lack of permanent means of earning a livelihood are severely handicapping the American Legion in its present campaign to provide employment for the country's 700,000 jobless veterans of the world war.

Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the Legion, declared today in a formal statement from the organization's headquarters here, Bolles said: "Despite our efforts to find continuous employment for the former soldiers, there still remain at least 500,000 of them who have no jobs."

"Our estimate of the number of jobless veterans placed since the Legion's offensive in their behalf is nearly 400,000. This figure in no way, however, can be taken to mean that but 300,000 are now out of work. The temporary job has caused these figures to ascend one day and drop down to distressing depths the next."

ARMY TO ASSIST THOUSANDS HIT BY RIVER FLOOD

New Breaks in Mississippi
Increase Thronges Rendered Homeless.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Secretary of War Weeks today gave orders to the army to render all possible assistance in flood relief work along the lower Mississippi river.

He directed Colonel Robert A. Brown, commander of the Seventh Corps Area at Fort Crook, Neb., to give all possible aid to the flood stricken districts. Food, clothing, tents and other supplies will be furnished and, after the floods have subsided, army engineers will assist in draining the flooded lands and in repairing levees.

CHICAGO, April 20.—(By International News Service.)—Relief agencies are working desperately today to bring aid to communities where widespread suffering has resulted from floods that have made thousands homeless throughout the entire Mississippi valley. A cold which settled over the Middle West yesterday continued today, adding to the discomforts felt by those who have been driven from their homes by floods.

High water continued along almost the entire length of the Mississippi and most of its tributaries are running bank full, if they have not already broken through the dikes and levees built to hold them in restraint.

Appeals for aid have been sent out by the Red Cross and other agencies. The federal government has been asked also, to give assistance.

Damage to railroads and highways makes difficult the task of carrying the flood victims and clothing to those who have been driven from their homes.

In the vicinity of McClure, Ill., scores of families are marooned in the upper stories of their homes with only a meager food supply. A relief steamer sent out from Cairo was forced by high winds to return to its dock, but is expected to put out again and reach McClure today.

LEVEE BREAK FLOODS
THOUSANDS OF ACRES.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., April 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—A big break in the levee near De gonia and Fountain Bluff, small towns southwest of here, was reported today. Water was said to be rushing over thousands of acres of cultivated farm land.

FOUR MILLION SANDBAGS
SENT TO FLOOD AREA.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(By The Associated Press.)—Four million sandbags were shipped by special trains from Schenectady, N. Y., today to points along the Mississippi river where the water, reaching an unprecedented high stage, has created a seriously threatening situation.

BIG RECLAIMED TRACT
NOW IS UNDER WATER.

CARROLLTON, Ill., April 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—Breaking of the Hartwell levee on the Illinois river, near 11 o'clock last night, completed the flooding of 30,000 acres of reclaimed farm land along a twenty-three-mile river front in Greene county. Reports this morning say that few, if any, lives were lost as the populace of the territory had been forewarned.

VAST DAMAGE DONE
BY 55-MILE GALE.

SANDUSKY, O., April 20.—(By International News Service.)—The total damage done by a 55-mile gale in Sandusky and vicinity between 10 o'clock last night and 4 o'clock this morning will run high into the thousands. Electric light, telephone and trolley wires were torn down.

Many trees were blown down in the country sections and fruit blossoms were hard hit by the cold wave. Much fishing tackle in Sandusky bay and Lake Erie was damaged by the tremendous waves.

BOY BITTEN BY DOG.

BERKELEY, April 20.—John Burnham, aged 12, 1207 University avenue, was treated at the Emergency hospital yesterday afternoon for wounds inflicted by a dog belonging to E. Levine, 932 Addison street. The dog has been turned over to Poundmaster Pete Rogers for observation.

PARTY LINES ARE SPLIT AS HOUSE VOTES BIG NAVY

Margin of 71 Shown When Final Test Comes; President Is Endorsed.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—With party lines broken and party leaders pushed aside, the House, late yesterday heeded the President's plea and passed the big navy bill by a margin of 71 votes. An amendment to the bill fixes the navy personnel at $8,000.

The vote on the McArthur-Vare amendment, the big point in dispute and which increased the man force from 67,000, as provided in the bill, was 221 to 148, with two members answering present. Ninety Republicans voted against the $8,000 amendment, while 48 Democrats supported it.

With the fighting section out of the way, the bill was put on its passage and went through, 219 to 78. As amended, the measure carried a total of $261,269,000, or $13,090,000 more than the total fixed by the appropriations committee which framed it. It goes now to the Senate, with the charge by Chairman Kelley, of the navy appropriations sub-committee, that many millions will be added and to which the House would have been asked to add, "that not the big navy men changed front at the last."

The following Republicans voted against the $8,000 personnel amendment: Anderson, Andrews, Nebraska; Anthony, Arentz, Atkeson, Beck, Begg, Bird, Boies, Brooks, Illinois; Browne, Wisconsin; Burtress, Burton, Campbell, Kansas; Cannon, Christopher, Kansas; Clarke, Cole, Iowa; Cooper, Wisconsin; Cranston, Davis, Minnesota; Deulin, Dickinson, Dowell, Echols, Evans, Frear, French, Funk, Gahn, Gensman, Green, Iowa; Hardy, Colorado; Hansen, Herrick, Hershey, Hoch, Hull, James, Johnson, South Dakota; Keller, Kelley, Michigan; Ketcham, King, Kleozka, Knight, Kopp, Kraus, Larson, Minnesota; Lawrence, Leatherwood, Little, McLaughlin, Michigan; MacGregor, Madden, Mann, Mapes, Michigan; Mills, Paige, Mondell, Murphy, A. ## GROUPS GOVERN U. S., ACCORDING TO EX-SENATOR

NEW YORK, April 20.—(By Associated Press.)—The country no longer is governed by party organization, but by groups, former United States Senator Charles T. Thomas, of Colorado, said last night at the annual dinner of the National M. L. Trades Association. The only difference between the Republicans and Democrats, he asserted, was that "one is in and the other is out."

"Instead of having parties, we have half a dozen groups," he added. "There is the agricultural group, the labor group, the anti-saloon group and the sons of the Irish republic group. These remain in Washington all the time and some in every fine quarters, so that instead of having one capital, we have half a dozen. The most sinister thing about it is that the general welfare of the nation, the good of the people are lost in these conflicting interests."

The former senator said there was "no distinctive difference in the parties even on the tariff." "Take the bolls," he added, "both damn it in the cloakroom and vote for it on the floor. And take prohibition. It did not have a friend in the cloakroom and not an enemy on the floor."

Aquarium Fish Go On Annual Vacation

MIAMI, Fla., April 20.—With the exception of a few specimens shipped to institutions in New York and Philadelphia, the hundreds of fish in the Miami aquarium who exhibited themselves during the winter to tourists and home-folk interested in "fishology" have been returned to the Atlantic ocean and have headed toward their native haunts among the Florida keys or in the gulf stream.

The glass tanks in the aquarium, which scientists say contain during the winter months one of the greatest varieties of marine life in the world, are empty during the summer.

In the fall the fishermen, familiar with the habits of the various species, go after them with nets, traps and hook and line and in a short time have enough to restock them.

A curious feature is that some of the fish which spent the winter in the aquarium and have just been liberated, will return to the tanks again in the fall.

COUNTY URGED TO BUILD HOME FOR VETERAN ORDERS

Supervisors Meet to Receive Members of American Legion Posts.

The Board of Supervisors met as a committee of the whole today and received a delegation from the American Legion relative to levying a special tax for the building in Alameda county of a home for veterans organizations.

The state law gives the supervisors power to levy a county tax for this purpose.

R. M. Lyman Jr., member of the executive committee and chairman of the building committee of the American Legion, Oakland Post No. 5, and Harry A. Nelson, secretary of the post, accompanied the committee that appeared before the supervisors.

TWO-CENT TAX SUGGESTED. It was suggested that a tax of two cents on the $100 be levied for a period of ten years. This would raise $500,000 for the erection of the proposed building.

The board took the matter under consideration.

Kern county, Fresno county and Contra Costa county are raising funds through taxation to erect buildings of this character.

The supervisors received a communication from the Alameda County Tax Association in which the association said it had appointed a committee to confer with the supervisors and study the Alameda county budget for the coming fiscal year. Copies of the estimated expenditures of the various departments were asked for.

The committee appointed by the tax association consists of Judge Everett Brown, Harry T. Price and E. W. Williams.

The board instructed the clerk to notify the association that the supervisors would be glad to comply with the request.

The supervisors received a communication from the Alameda Chamber of Commerce commending the board and County Engineer George Posey for the speed with which the repairs on the Bay Farm Island bridge were made. The communication was signed by Carl Strom, president of the Alameda Chamber of Commerce.

CHICAGO, April 20.—The experiments of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and other spirit heeklers were not unknown to the Egyptians 4000 B. C., according to Ludlow S. Bull, who has been doing research work in Egyptology at the University of Chicago.

In a speech before the American Oriental society today, Bull told of an Egyptian politician and the latter's efforts to communicate with the spirits 2923 years ago. The speaker said that this was the first record of any attempt by man to communicate with the departed.

Dear Madam:

I take the pleasure of informing you that I am a free man since I have taken your tea and it surely was a God-send when your tea was recommended to me. I was sick for eight long years and during that period was examined by many physicians and was told I was incurable. Some told me I had an ulcerated stomach, while others stated I had a leaking valve of the heart, and other diseases. There was nothing said about me that would encourage me to make life worth living. In fact many times I was so sick and had fainting spells from time to time, that I was quite frequent that I did not care whether I lived or not. I have only taken your tea ten months. I have found such an improvement in myself, and have no fainting spells, words cannot express my appreciation in getting acquainted with your tea "Hillinger Tea." I will do all I can to recommend my cure. Hillinger.

Respectfully, J. Adler, 301 Laguna Street, San Francisco, Calif.

COLBOURN URGES PUBLIC AID IN ENFORCING LAW

Commissioner Says Threatening Letter Cannot Affect His Course.

Indifference on the part of so many Americans to the conduct of public affairs is one of the chief obstacles to good government, Frank H. Colbourn, Oakland commissioner of public health and safety, told the Shriners of Aahmes Temple last night.

"The laws are observed fully only where a preponderance of the people get behind the enforcing officials," he said in his address on "The Oakland Police Department and Good Citizenship."

Colbourn said between thirty-five and fifty men of his department were involved in the removals from office and shifts in positions that he had found necessary to the good of the service.

"Since making these changes I believe that 80 per cent of the Oakland policemen now have the qualities we desire—honesty, intelligence and courage," he said. "Our great aim is to prevent crime."

"I welcome honest criticism. If you see anything wrong, come and tell me about it. The great trouble is that our people are apt to let things drift until something goes radically wrong. Anyone can hurl destructive criticism. It accomplishes nothing. Only today I received a threatening letter, which was also sent to the press. It means nothing. I am not in politics, not running for office or looking for favors. It is my desire to conduct my department so that I may look my friends in the face squarely."

In recognition of his services to Aahmes Temple and the nobility in general, the gift of a life membership certificate was voted during the business session to August L. Ott.

S. F. POLICE USE GUNS IN CHASE; GRAB FOUR MEN

Four Suspects Nabbed in Two Crimes Within Few Feet of Each Other.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—The vicinity of Seventh and Market streets was dangerous for crooks early today, and no less than four men were arrested by a half-dozen police officers and charged with two daring crimes perpetrated within a few feet of each other.

In both instances shots were necessary to halt the culprits, and the police were forced to make long pursuits before the four were placed in custody. The following were booked at the city prison:

BRUNO ZITOLA, 1063 McAllister street, charged with robbery.

JOHN BLANCO, 19 years old, 1517 Howard street, charged with burglary.

HENRY COAKLEY, 20 years old, 611 Monticello street, charged with burglary.

James Peronello of 119 Monticello street was the victim of two bandits who held him up at Market and Seventh streets. One wielded a pistol and the second brandished a knife. Peronello was forced to hand over $60. The robbers fled up McAllister with Peronello pursued yelling loudly for help. Patrolman Edward Moran took up the chase, but they paid no attention to him until he fired two shots over their heads. The shooting attracted Sergeant Ward and Patrolman Daniel and they cornered the fugitives in a vacant lot on McAllister street between Hyde and Larkin streets. The officers say they found the wallet in Zitola's possession and both men were booked.

A short time afterward Special Policeman Smith discovered a scuffling protruding from a window in the poolroom of H. Olsen, 112 Market street. He summoned Special Officer Timothy Carmody and making their way to the windows they saw two forms inside and commanded them to come out. Both men let a break for the rear door. Carmody fired, but missed. Meantime other officers summoned from the Central station arrived, and later Patrolmen Savage and Nash saw two men running from a lot near the poolroom and captured them after a chase. They proved to be Blanco and Coakley and the police claim to have found in their possession cigarettes and other articles stolen from the poolroom.

KINGSFORD'S CORN STARCH PUDDING

2 cups scalded Milk 1/2 cup Sugar 2 Eggs 1/2 teaspoon Salt
4 level tablespoons Kingsford's Corn Starch 1/2 teaspoon Vanilla
1 oz. Chocolate melted (optional)

Mix the corn starch with a little cold milk. Stir the hot milk slowly into the corn starch and stir over water till it thickens. Cook fifteen minutes. Beat the eggs slightly, add the sugar and salt. Add the corn starch mixture to the eggs, and cook, stirring constantly, one minute longer. Remove from fire, add the vanilla or melted chocolate as desired. Serve cold with cream and sugar. (Serves six persons.)

It is not necessary to purchase both a bread and a pastry flour. By using quarter cup of Kingsford's Corn Starch to three-quarter cup of any good flour the percentage of gluten is decreased and the starch content increased so that home prepared flour will make a lighter and finer grained cake.

Lack of funds due to cutting of the army appropriation bill by congress, and the reduction in army personnel were reasons assigned by Captain Eglin for the orders.

STARLIGHT

by Edith McGilone Gibson

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first families of Virginia, rebels against the traditional rule of her grandfather and, lured by Elmer, runs away to become a motion picture actress. Arriving in Los Angeles, she meets Gloria Summers, who is in the movies. They become warm friends. They meet Herbert Richardson, a wealthy young man who has gone to Santa Barbara, taking Kiddy Dalton with her. Gloria fears Kiddy is planning to elope with Herbert Richardson. Virginia receives the first money she had ever earned. It was a big day for her. She bought a souvenir for herself and rented a room for herself and Kiddy.

ANOTHER JOB.

The place in Los Angeles to see the down-and-outers and the up-and-comers in the motion picture business is at the Service Bureau.

I had been too engrossed in my own affairs on my former visit to notice much. As I went up the steps I thought I was in a panic for fear my pictures were gone. I could not afford to lose forty-eight dollars. My hand closed vindictively over my little good luck elephant and I said softly: "I'll smash you on the pavement if I don't find them."

My gaze traveled over a group of old men in shabby clothes leaning against the fence. Some of them were unshaven; others had made a pathetic attempt at neatness and cleanliness. They are the kind of men one sees in pictures depicting the tramps, the gangsters and the down-and-outers—the kind that you find in the background, in doorways and in mob scenes of the slums.

These types are wanted only occasionally so that these men are able to make only a very precarious living. But they seem perfectly satisfied just talking among themselves. They never realize that the world—the great, busy, splendid world—is dead to them. They are the hoboes of the picture business.

Two nattily dressed young chaps ran up the steps just ahead of me. They were dressed in extreme fashion with the exception that they wore no hats—for it is quite the fashion in Los Angeles and Hollywood for the young men to economize on hats.

As they passed me one said: "No, I am not going to buy a new hat until I have to use it. I need the money to take Jeanette to the Coconut Grove this week. She has a new dress that she says is a pippin and she must show it there."

I walked through the hallway, entered the second doorway at the left and went directly toward the cashier's window, in front of which stood Mr. Ballantyne slowly turning over my pictures. I could not see his face, but he was so interested that he did not hear me until I stood beside him.

"You should be more careful of these, Miss Winston."

At first it gave me another little thrill to think he had remembered my name and connected it with my face. I did not realize immediately that my name was on the outside of the box.

"These pictures are very good. I would pay you to leave one or two of them at each of the studios. I would like two of them for this office."

"Take those you like best, Mr. Ballantyne. I was just starting out with them to the studios."

"Why not go to the Kalsey Studio, Miss Winston? I think they are to need quite a number of good-looking young people, day after tomorrow. I would like to send you out, but we do not handle the casting of their atmosphere. If their set is filled, call us."

With this he turned and went up the stairs to his office.

I caught a red car as soon as possible. Arriving at the Kalsey studio, I was asked by a man in a khaki uniform with a large star on the lapel of his coat, whom I wanted to see. I stated my business and he said: "Wait just a minute."

Just a minute meant a half hour and then I was confronted by a good-natured gentleman with very blonde hair, who, after looking at me carefully and scrutinizing my pictures, said: "Won't you come in, Miss Winston?"

I passed through the gate tremblingly. My knees began to feel wobbly again, but I was proud to know that my voice was firm as I answered the innumerable questions asked me as to experience, wardrobe, weight, height and others. I was getting along famously until he asked: "Do you dance?"

"A little."

"Do you ride?"

"Yes," and I could not help adding, "Every Southern girl can ride."

AMERICAN JURY SYSTEM LAUDED BY COMMISSIONER

Is Cornerstone of Liberty,
Oliphant Tells Business
Men's Club.

Outlining the procedure in selecting the venire of county juries, both grand and trial, and making a general summary of the jury system, David D. Oliphant, Jr., Alameda county jury commissioner, yesterday addressed the Progressive Business Men's club at the Hotel Oakland on "Jury Systems in Alameda county."

"I am convinced that the jury system is one of the cornerstones of the edifice of American liberty," declared Oliphant. "It is in my estimation not fully appreciated, however, as was evidenced recently by a movement on foot to abolish the system, and establish a court of three judges to try cases that are now brought before juries."

TENDENCY TO SHUN DUTY.

Oliphant pointed out that there was an increased tendency to shun jury duty shown by many American citizens. He stated that a survey of people registered in the county showed that approximately only fifty per cent of them were really capable to serve on juries.

"It is up to the American citizen to either stop his criticism of the jury or to make that criticism constructive," he declared while discussing statements he said were frequently made by some, that juries had not returned proper verdicts.

GUEST OF HONOR.

Judge T. W. Harte, presiding judge of the superior court of Alameda county, was a guest of honor at the luncheon.

Miss Ellsworth Mills, National Y. M. C. A. worker, who, during the year under the local organization, gave a short address in which she outlined the work of the association.

A team is to be appointed from the Progressive club to assist in the campaign for maintenance funds of the Y. W. C. A. to be held in the near future.

He raised his head a little and looked at me again.

"Swim."

"No, I've lived inland."

"Then you haven't been here long?"

"No. Mr. Ballantyne suggested that I come and see you."

"I am glad you came, Miss Winston. We can use you. You will be on the set, made up, at nine o'clock, day after tomorrow, in evening dress. Something light and girlish for you with gold and silver shoes and stockings."

"Thank you. I will be here."

The sun was shining again. I left the studio, walking along Vine street and the great eucalyptus trees seemed rustling their congratulations. I went up to one of them and leaned against its shimmering whiteness. To it I confessed my happiness.

Looking up, I saw faces in a passing motor smiling derisively and I made a rush for Hollywood boulevard and the car.

BLACKMAIL PLOT BARED AS BECK SLAYING SEQUEL

Writer Demands $2000 to Forget What He Saw;
Man Jailed.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 20.—A plot to blackmail Mrs. Day, wife of Jean P. Day, wealthy attorney and oil man who recently was exonerated here of the slaying of Lieutenant Colonel Paul Ward Beck, army aviator, was revealed last night with the announcement that a man giving his name as Ed Reed, of Oklahoma City, had been arrested at Edna, Okla., at the request of postal authorities.

A letter was received last Wednesday by Mrs. Ward from a man who demanded $2000 to remain silent on what he claimed he saw through the window of the Day home on the morning that Colonel Beck was slain. The letter was signed "G. Duer," Day said.

A package was sent to Edna addressed to Duer, and was claimed last night by Reed, who asked for Duer's mail.

"COUNT" A BEGGAR.

ROME, April 20.—A man posing as Count Cristoforo Teodorikowsky of Bulgaria was arrested here and identified as a well-known beggar. In his room was a suit of rags as well as ultra-smart attire.

Last week at an election held on the campus.

Miss Mathew, who is registered from Santa Mateo, is a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority and has been chairman of the women's students affairs committee as well as a leader in other campus activities.

Miss Ward is a Los Angeles girl. A member of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

Earl G. Steel, junior, registered from Santa Barbara, by an almost two to one vote was elected president of the Associated Students yesterday, defeating Clarence L. Kinchloe. Because of the close vote on members of the welfare committee, F. G. Taylor and E. S. Shattuck will be forced to go before the college voters again tomorrow.

Clark A. Bowen of Oakland was elected varsity yell leader, defeating Dan Marovich by a close margin. Yesterday's vote was one of the lightest in recent years on the campus. New student officers will take their seats next semester.

With the aid of a delatone paste it is an easy matter for any woman to remove every trace of hair or fuzz from face, neck and arms. Enough of the powdered delatone and water is mixed into a thick paste and spread on the hairy surface for about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This completely removes the hair, but to avoid disappointment, get the delatone in an original package.—Advertisement.

WOMEN ENDORSE HAYS BANNING OF ARBUCKLE FILMS

Hero Worship of Fatty Is Scored By President of Ebell Club.

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Approval of the action of Will H. Hays, head of the Motion Picture Producers' Association, in cancelling all contracts for the showing of films in which "Fatty" Arbuckle appears, was spoken at a meeting here of the Ebell club, one of the largest women's clubs in the United States, by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, its president.

The meeting was largely attended and prolonged applause followed Mrs. Toll's declaration.

"I hesitate to bring such a sordid note to such an occasion as this. But I have been feeling so strongly my own distress and even disgust at the manner in which this man is lionized, and the reception given his pictures here in our city—amounting, apparently, almost to hero worship, that I felt I must do something.

"My conscience troubled me that I was slow to act, and now the statement of Will H. Hays that he will bar those pictures takes the load from my conscience.

"When the co-operative council for better films, which includes in its membership prominent club women throughout the Los Angeles district, meets next it is the intention to take definite action upon the Arbuckle films and to send telegrams to Mr. Hays, commending his stand."

SAN BERNARDINO, April 20.—Cheers followed the adoption here by the San Bernardino County Federation of Women's Clubs of resolutions protesting against further showing of motion pictures featuring Arbuckle.

The resolutions, presented by the Colton women's club, declared the "whole affair is degrading and to be deplored," and demanded that "no club woman attend or sanction the attendance of her family at the Arbuckle pictures."

CHICAGO, April 20.—An order to ban the films of Roscoe Arbuckle, acquitted in San Francisco on charges of manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappa, was presented at today's meeting of the city council. It was referred to the police committee.

CENTURY

It is doubtful if in all history there is a parallel incident to the storming of the Bastille in the depth of its meaning to a people and all that it stands for as the beginning of a revolt so complete as was the French Revolution, as pictured in D. W. Griffith's "Orphans of the Storm," playing at the Century.

Compressed within comparatively a few minutes in the showing, Griffith's picturing of the actual storming is marvelous in its detail. The thousands that assailed it were a mob, harnessed and all too ineffectual in their attack on the Bastille. Fired upon by musket or cannon they filled in the furrows of their missed ranks and perished in attack and were out the courage of the castle's defenders, and under promise of immunity the Bastille was surrendered.

Never in anything Griffith has done has he so marshaled his army of superlatives with such perfect accumulative effect as in this scene.

NEW BROADWAY

Charles Ray supplanted "Fatty" Arbuckle at the Broadway theater today as the first result of Will H. Hays' action banning the comedian's pictures.

Arbuckle was billed to appear in "The Traveling Salesman" today and tomorrow, when Hays' edict forced a San Francisco exchange to cancel the booking. Charles Ray was then announced to appear in "Scrap Iron."

"Scrap Iron" is a story of the prize ring in which Ray is the victor in a "scrap" with a "goat." It is good clean comedy with the inimitable style and stunts of Ray predominate.

"Moran of the Lady Letty," a picture partly filmed in the Oakland estuary and starring Randolph Valentino, is announced for next Sunday.

NEW FRANKLIN

Wally Reid shows his prowess in the prize ring as well as in the Londoner Londoner comedy, "The World's Champion," at the New Franklin. The picture treats in humorous fashion the snobbish and snobish of a British family to acquire social prestige.

Wally, their son, does not fit in with the family. He is a novel, shipped to America. Here he works his way up from street sweeper to world champion, and when he turns home he finds his family in the limelight and conquers an obstinate girl who objects to becoming his champion.

Commemorating the sixteenth anniversary of the San Francisco fire the existing pictures of the big conflagration are shown. A novel comedy, "Robinson Crusoe Jr.," Moll and Jeff, radio comedians and Bob Harrison, comedian, in a burlesque burlesque complete the bill.

NEW CHIMES

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is being shown in capacity houses at the New Chimes theater, where it has been showing since Monday. The concluding performance will be given Saturday night of this week.

On the same bill are rounds three and four of the popular prize ring pictures, "The Leather Pushers." Clara Kimball Young in her newest picture, "The Worldly Madonna," heads the bill which starts at the American on Saturday.

as a tango king in Paris upon the centenary of his hot affection upon the beautiful young wife of a distinguished engineer, left on the outside as a neutral in the war, deserted by his sweetheart when she hears the call of duty, enlisting in the infantry and finally giving up his life in the shell-swept fields of Northern France.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or discomfort from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short, sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry, restlessness, constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful, in these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of a baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

Castoria always bears the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher

"Betty Dowdy" is one of the cleverest and cleanest bedroom farces to come to Oakland. Davis & Bradner are real musical comedy prima donnas and rate several encores. Ella La Real is a distinct treat in her novel act. The vaudeville coming Sunday includes Tom McKay's Review, Babe La Tour, with a comedy couple, Josephine & Turner in "A Day at the Races," Billy Earley, in original humor. # REBELS IN DUBLIN ARE DEFEATED BY FREE STATE MEN

Conference of Disputing Factions Is Adjourned Until Wednesday.

DUBLIN, April 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The conference between representative free states and republicans held here today at the instance of Lord Mayor O'Neill and Archbishop Byrne, adjourned until next Wednesday. No agreement was reached.

TROOPS WOUNDED.

By GEORGE MAG DONAGH, United Press Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, April 20.—Rebel assaults upon the Free State headquarters, the town hall, the telephone exchange, and upon provisional government patrols in Dublin early today were beaten off after heavy exchanges of rifle fire.

Volleys of rifle fire were exchanged in the early fighting between rebel bands and riflemen in an armored lorry filled with Free State troops, at O'Connell bridge, in the very center of the Irish capital.

The car was riddled with bullets and four Free State troopers wounded.

Free State headquarters, in Upper Merrion street, were subjected to simultaneous attacks from the front and rear.

The city hall was attacked by multitudes, but little damage was done to the building and there were no casualties in heavy exchanges of rifle fire.

The telephone exchange was the principal objective of the insurgents, but they found it heavily guarded by Free Staters, who beat them off, with the loss of only one man, who was wounded.

A police patrol in Grafton street was fired upon from the roofs on either side.

Though the patrol miraculously escaped without loss, rebels, emerging from their barricades at the Four Courts, captured a lorry carrying munitions.

DEATH TOLL EIGHT.

A popular star will be supported by a New York cast headed by the charming young leading lady, Eileen Martin Watkins, of Oakland, and George M. Smith, of Oakland, and Edith Lawler of Oakland.

The exhibition, said to be one of the most engaging of the year, may be shown later around the bay—quite probably at the Oakland Art Gallery, since Eastbay artists have so largely contributed to it.

NEPTUNE

His diving, canoe events and a band concert by Schultz are on the program at Neptune Beach, Alameda, next Sunday. The high diving, canoe events, which will be the feature of the season, will furnish thrills for the spectators, for the plungers will ascend to the top of the diving board and perform their aerial antics and somersaults from that height. Harry Red Kern, the famous diver, will be starred in this event. Schultz's band has been advertised to twenty pieces for the concert. Canoe racing, the battle of the tanks, will also be a feature. The fun house, opened last Sunday, has proved a popular feature.

IDORA

Casual flappers will hold sway at Idora Park Sunday. Speedy mermaids and men will appear in the three swimming races for Pacific Athletic Association championship medals. The girls will race in the 100-yard and 300-yard free style events, while the men will appear in the 50-yard free style race.

Hockey skating and dancing will be the big dipper, the whip, Noah's ark, the magic carpet, or the top, race through the clouds, the carousel, the racing horses, the captive airplanes and other fun features in the funland Idora.

Sunday week, April 30, "The Bride of Mystery" will unmask at Idora. The picture will appear in Oakland during next week.

STRAND

"Queen of Sheba" the William Fox picture, which created a tremendous sensation during its run at a prominent Broadway, New York, theater, will appear at the Strand theater, Telegraph avenue at Thirty-third street today for a 3-day run.

"Queen of Sheba" was a year in the making. The production was directed by J. Gordon Edwards.

The picture is a story of the Queen of Sheba, played by Betty Glythe; Fritz Lieber, noted Shakespearean actor, is King Solomon; Claire de Lorez is the Queen of Sheba's rival, and Neil Craig is seen in the role of the Princess Yasht. Sheba's opponent, the Queen of Sheba, is played by Betty Glythe.

From all reports, based upon the New York run, "Queen of Sheba" promises to be the screen sensation of the season.

PANTAGES

Combining comedy with a musical turn, the Skelly and Helt Revue will be featured as the leading number on the coming Pantages theater bill opening Sunday afternoon. ## JOKERS OR SPOOKS.

SAN LEANDRO, April 20.—Members of the San Leandro fire department are in a quandry. Ghostly noises are said to have exerted their evil influence over the city hall. This is the reason: Early today H. H. Iverson, fire-truck driver, entered the firehouse and found the door ajar. He was amazed to find the machine turned exactly around facing the rear of the building. No tell-tale tracks could be discovered, the engine was cold and no one had heard any tinkering with the mechanism. The space was too small to attempt to turn the heavy truck.

Members of the department sleeping in a nearby room declare they heard nothing, and staunchly maintain that it was no practical joke. "It's either spooks or some joke," grumbled Iverson. "If it is a joke it's a damned poor one."

TELEGRAPH AVE. PAVING WAITS ON TRACTION LINE

Council Overrules Protests
But Does Not Order
Work Begun.

The city council this morning overruled a 35.8 per cent protest of property owners against the improvement of Telegraph avenue, from Fifty-second to the Berkeley line, but did not order the work to be done.

Residents protested that they did not wish any such improvement until the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railroad does its part of the paving between tracks. Commissioner Baccus said the Traction Company has given assurances that this will be done, but Commissioner Edwards said this was not enough and asked that nothing be done until some pledge, in black and white, be given. That was so ordered by the council, though Baccus prophesied that "it means that the business will hang fire for months."

A suggestion of property owners that the street be repaved and not repaved was countered by Baccus, who said the street is practically beyond repair.

The council, however, gave assurances that the work will be paid for on the district assessment plan, without throwing all the burden on the immediate Telegraph avenue frontage.

The superior court action against the Union Ice Company to compel it to install noiseless machinery, was ordered dismissed. The electric machinery is now in the plant.

The department of public works was authorized to ask bids for the construction of a 20-foot launch for bay soundings.

The Rotary Club asked $499 to help defray the expenses of the coming "Boys' Week." The matter was referred to the finance department.

CONVICT DENIES RIOTING.
Although facing a term of from one to fourteen years in San Quentin for confessed forgery, Robert R. McGraw made a vigorous fight in Superior Judge Samuel's court today to clear himself of the charge that he had led a riot in the Alameda county jail during his incarceration there. McGraw succeeded in disproving the rioting accusation and received his sentence for forgery with a smile.

BORAH SEEKS TO TRAP SEMENOFF; VISITS NEW YORK

U. S. Senator Searches For Evidence of Murder
Guilt of Ataman.

By PHILIP B. SCHUYLER.

Cultured Press Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, April 20.—Senator William E. Borah, nemesis of General Gregory Semenoff, is in New York today seeking evidence that may lead to prosecution of the Cossack ataman for the murders committed in Siberia.

He also wants to quiz Boris Bakmeteff, ambassador of the old Kerensky government, regarding alleged Semenoff outrages. It is understood Borah is now running down a clew which may lead to important disclosures of a connection between Semenoff and Bakmeteff.

For the safety of Semenoff caused postponement of his trial on a charge of having seized goods of an American company, until April 26.

Special police guards had been thrown around the building when Semenoff today was to appear before Referee Peter B. Olney to be put on the grill. An attempt to assassinate Semenoff was feared. A mob urged about him when he was released on bail from Ludlow street jail late yesterday, yelling in Yiddish, Russian and English:

"Kill the murderer of children!"

"Death to the assassin of Slavia!"

Women struggled fiercely with policemen to get at Semenoff.

Imprecations were shouted from roofs and windows. A few bricks sailed through the air.

Semenoff, his face pale, nervously twisting his military mustache, hastened through the crowd in the midst of a hollow square of bluecoats and dived into a closed taxicab.

Dail for Semenoff was furnished by two Russian patriotic societies.

MODESTO, April 20.—Mrs. Clara E. Corey, 64, 1022 North San Joaquin street, Modesto, was instantly killed at La Grange shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when an automobile in which she was riding with her husband, Frank E. Corey, Robert M. Labram and Miss Nellie Johnson, of 221 East Park street, Modesto, ran off a steep grade and pitched into a nearby creek.

Miss Labram was pinned under the car with Mrs. Corey and suffered a broken pelvis and internal injuries. Labram, who was driving the car, suffered cuts and bruises about the head and face.

According to Labram, he was negotiating a steep grade when the car stalled. He applied the brakes but they failed to hold the car, which hurtling to the bottom of the creek turned over. Mrs. Corey being pinned underneath.

MURPHY'S, April 20.—Theodore Keilbar, butcher, hung a large beef up to cool over night in his slaughter house and when he visited the place the following morning, he made the startling discovery that some hungry gentleman had carved off and carried away a choice quarter, under the cover of darkness. This is the third occurrence of this kind in a short time and Murphy's will henceforth place a watchman at his establishment when he has occasion to leave meat there.

Son Arrested as Embezzler From Mother's Estate

Alexander R. Balm Charged
With Taking $65,000 in Securities.

Charging that Alexander R. Balm, 464 Lincoln street, San Francisco, has embezzled $65,000 in negotiable securities from the estate of his mother, the late Mrs. Eliza Baum, Public Administrator John Hill today swore to a warrant for Balm's arrest.

When police officers, armed with the warrant, went to arrest Balm at a local hospital it was found that he had left the institution early today. He later was taken into custody. His bail was fixed at $20,000.

Balm recently was deposed as administrator of his mother's estate by Judge E. C. Robertson of the probate court of Alameda county after he had failed to make a partial distribution to the amount of $15,000 as ordered by Judge Robertson. Public Administrator John Hill was appointed administrator of his place by Judge Robertson.

The estate left by Mrs. Baum amounted to $204,000, the largest part of which consisted of Eastern bonds. The $65,000 in negotiable securities which Balm is accused of having embezzled consisted of $15,000 in cash, sixty shares of Pacific Telephone stock at $35 per share, and six one-thousand dollar bonds of Southern California Telephone company.

The authorities believe that Balm was accompanied, when he left the hospital, by a friend, who is said to have represented him as his agent in court.

Balm was to have appeared this afternoon before Judge Robertson, to explain what he had done with the funds in his care.

Meet," to Address Americans Friday Night.

International News Service Staff
Correspondent.
BALTIMORE, Md., April 20.—Baltimore became the feminine capital of the United States today as women notables from every state in the Union and practically every country in the western hemisphere gathered for the annual conference of the League of Women Voters.

Peace through unity of women is the mission of the women's Pan-American conference, the first bringing together of the women of America and Latin-America. Out of it may grow a world disarmament conference of women to demand universal peace.

The keynote of the movement for an "understanding among the voting women of the world" in her address Friday night, Lady Astor will be the "Lioness of the conference."

"Peace among nations is essential to the work that women have most at heart," said Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the League of Women Voters.

"We believe that friendliness with our neighboring countries will be stimulated and strengthened when women from all parts of the western hemisphere come together for a sympathetic study of their common problems."

More than 2000 delegates, coming from every corner of the United States and representing more than 7,000,000 voters, are expected to assemble Monday for the convention of the League of Women Voters.

MONTEREY, April 20.—Monterey is making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of its first big convention.

DANGERS AT GENOA.

The leading governments of the Allied group represented at Genoa have determined that the Russian-German treaty must be denounced or the Russian and German delegates barred from participation in the commission of the conference to consider Russian questions. In this procedure the French delegation has taken a leading advocacy and the British delegation has supported the French view.

No other course seems to be open to the steering committee of the conference, which is composed of delegates of the principal Allied powers. The treaty negotiated and signed by the German and Russian soviet governments is clearly an act of bad faith. Furthermore, it has appearance of being designed as an effort to escape some of the provisions of the Versailles treaty, notably the clauses covering reparations. And it was one of the conditions of French participation in the conference, to which the other participating powers agreed, that nothing should be done or attempted which would injure existing treaties.

Developments at Genoa are for the present giving foundation to the criticisms uttered against the conference in the French and British parliaments before it was convened.

On April 3 in the French Chamber of Deputies Premier Poincare obtained the endorsement of his Genoa program by a vote of 484 to 78. But in the discussions preceding the vote M. Leon Daudet, voicing the majority opinion of the Nationalists group in the Chamber, characterized the conference as nothing better than a German plan to escape from the Versailles treaty and the payment of reparations. Member M. Tardieu, one of the European correspondents of THE TRIBUNE, also expressed grave doubts as to the timeliness and the success of the conference.

On the same date, April 3, Mr. Lloyd George, having returned from his vacation in a fighting mood, demanded a vote of confidence on his Genoa program and was supported by a vote of 372 to 94. His critics complained of the fear that revision of the reparation provisions of the Versailles treaty would be attempted and that the conference would entail recognition of the Russian soviet regime.

It thus becomes clear that failure of the Genoa conference cannot fail to weaken the position of both the French and British premiers in their home parliaments.

Mr. Lloyd George has proved on several previous occasions his ability to withstand political assault at home and he in all probability will find a way out.

But the position of M. Poincare is not so firm. Already the Nationalists and the Socialists, the Clemenceau-Tardieu and the Briand factions, comprise strong antagonistic groups. They need only something like a failure at Genoa to unite them against the Poincare government. They voted confidence in the Poincare program because the government had been pledged to the Genoa adventure and because they were unwilling to answer for the consequences if they should force France to abstain entirely from participation in it.

The uproar which has followed the disclosure of the Russian-German treaty therefore strikes at something much more important than the question as to whether the attendance of the Russian and German delegates will longer be tolerated. It strikes at the solidarity of the Poincare and Lloyd George governments. The downfall of both governments is not impossible as one of the results of the conference.

By a large majority a party conference of the Republican members of the Senate have voted to pass a bonus law at the present session of Congress. This means that the finance committee will be required to report out the bonus bill and that the Senate will not put over the matter as unfinished business for the next session. But it is not clear from the caucus decision that the Senate will insist upon a plan under which the country will know precisely what the bonus bill is going to cost and that the means by which the financial burden may be discharged are provided. That in all conscience should be done. It will be bad business in this or any other connection to pass a law provided that certain obligations be assumed and the leaving it to subsequent Congresses to find the means of meeting those obligations.

WORTHY LENIENCY.

President Harding has just signed the joint resolution of Congress authorizing the extension for a period not to exceed twenty-five years of the time for the payment of principal and interest of the debt incurred by Austria for the purchase of flour for the United States Corporation. This resolution was originated in the Senate and had the active support of Senator Lodge.

By this act the United States again exhibits the generous spirit in dealing with the afflicted peoples of Europe, whether they are of nations formerly our enemies or our allies. The credit advanced to Austria for the purchase of flour was after the war, but before the signing of the separate treaty of peace between Austria and this government. At the time the Austrian people were starving. It was imperative that they obtain foodstuffs from the United States and they had no gold with which to pay.

The debt is not large, only a few millions of dollars, but to compel payment now would seriously handicap the Austrian people in their efforts to escape from conditions that require outside relief. As a matter of fact, with their paper currency depreciated to the point of worthlessness and with no gold or silver to ship to this country, it is practically impossible for them to pay.

In advancing this credit it was not the intention either of the government or people of the United States to make it impossible for Austria to save herself. There will be a way to balance the books of the grain corporation and the debt of Austria will run until that country is in a position to pay. It is quite likely that we shall not have to wait the full twenty-five years, but that Austria will take a special satisfaction in paying as soon as she can.

"DISCOVERING" THE PIPE.

President Emeritus Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California appears as the champion of the pipe. He says it is much to be preferred to cigarettes among college students.

Some time ago an imaginative Boswell tried to give to Dr. Wheeler the credit for discovering jazz, but we showed that before President Wheeler was born jazz was introduced among the creole resorts along the Mississippi River by persons with a strong strain of African blood. Now it is likely that some amiable Berkeleyite will attempt to give the former university president the whole credit for discovering the comfort that is in a pipe.

But to anticipate them, let it be recalled that the pipe was highly recommended by certain Indian tribesmen whom John Smith and others met immediately upon their arrival on the shores of America several centuries ago. And to the smoker who smokes without posing the pipe has always been a favorite.

Mr. Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, has threatened to resign from the independence commission to the United States unless the commission revises its program and insists upon absolute independence. This discloses that there is a difference of opinion in the commission. It undoubtedly reflects the very serious difference of opinion among the Filipino people as to whether absolute independence from the magnanimous authority of the United States is the most desirable thing.

The chief of police of Los Angeles is to resign. He claims that the elements that desire a "wide open" city have decreed that he must go. A lot of references to the chemical purity of the southern metropolis are now certain.

PROMOTING MURDER.

Nobody expected the conviction of Olivia Stone, who, after threatening her recent lover, Ellis Guy Kinkead, made a long journey to reach him, drank some gin and shot him to death.

Nobody expects to hear that a jury has convicted Jean P. Day, the Oklahoma oil man, who shot and killed the army officer he accuses of having attacked Mrs. Day.

Expectation of conviction in such cases is not based upon opinion as to the guilt of the accused. It is based upon knowledge that jurors very rarely are willing to convict a woman who kills, however deliberately, a man who has been her paramour, and that jurors rarely are willing to convict a man who kills a woman who has seduced his wife, or who has been discovered to be the lover of his wife.

The law, depending for its enforcement upon the jury system, is a failure where life is taken because of an illicit affair as a result of which some participant or a third person who has a real grievance, or a fancied one, plays the role of executioner.

If it were true that some but persons actually guilty of immorality, which one of the philosophers defines as lack of compassion, were killed by such women as Olivia Stone, and by such men as Jean P. Day, it might be said that in a rough way justice triumphs where the law fails; that dalliance is punished, albeit murderers often are not, and that society suffers more from the vice of those who lack compassion than from the violence of those who take the lives of persons who, lacking compassion, cause corroding sorrow, or blighting dishonor.

But when any woman who bears a grudge may, with safety, kill a man, alleging after the murder of her passion which is in certain circumstances permitted, therefore encouraged, promoted by the jury system.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Sir—In my favorite cafeteria the partition about the kitchen used to extend only part way to the ceiling and at noon I used to retire to the farthest corner to escape the clash of cups against plates. Now they have walled in the kitchen and the clatter of china is stifled, but in its place there rises the awful clamor of so-called humans attempting what they think is conversation. Having escaped the scylla of chatter I am uncertain whether to petition against the partition or end it all by dining where there is less dinning. What would you advise?

The Nature Club.

Commissioned by the club to conduct an investigation as to why the turning worm should turn, we took a list of the varieties of worms and started out. "What kind of worm was it who turned?" That was the question we had to solve; the club would be satisfied with nothing else.

"Have you talked to the book worm?" It was a worm of the angler species who asked us the question. "More than likely the old saying, a worm turns, means no more than that the book worm has turned another page. See him?" The thing sounded reasonable. Why shouldn't a book worm turn a page. Indeed, how could he restrain himself? We found the book worm in the heart of a succulent novel.

"Are you the worm who turned?" we asked.

"Turned what?" he answered, looking over his horn spectacles, "handspring, traitor, coat, Republican, about, inside-out? Come, come, turned what?"

"All we know," we answered, trying not to be angry, "is that he has been said repeatedly that there was a worm who turned. There was no why or what to it. The worm turned. Are you the worm?"

"If I were you," the book worm answered slowly, "I would go home and take a nice, long rest. No worm ever turned, unless, perhaps it was the measuring worm."

The measuring worm was found to be greatly excited. "Lookit," he cried at our approach, "I have discovered something most interesting. And indeed he had.

He walked a while, using the south end of his body exclusively, and there was a smile of pleasant anticipation on his face when his rear legs reached his head and halted under his chin. He stood a thin loop like the flap on the back of a shoe.

"Now watch!" he yelled, his voice traveling the scale as it switched back the length of his body.

The rear legs of the measuring worm stepped a bit to the right. They were abreast the worm's ear. He trembled in excitement. Then the legs, slowly moving forward, passed the worm and stood in front of him. The strain was great. Something was bound to happen. Again the legs moved, there was a whirling noise, they flew up in the air and the measuring worm executed a neat handspring. We left him panting with triumph and immense satisfaction.

We had discovered the turning worm.

The man who kicks at modern ways might pause, did he but know: The girls used rouge and powder, too.

NOTES and COMMENT

Superintendent of Instruction Wood has refused Eastern publishers of California text books the privilege of running advertisements of soaps, toilet articles and sporting goods through books intended for us in the high schools. There couldn't have been the least hesitancy in this refusal. Such a concession would have been outrageously improper, and its proposal amounted to insolent presumption.

A San Franciscoan addressing Rotarians made the assertion that the flappers of 50 years ago were male. Let's see: Fifty years ago would fetch the date in 1872. A good many can hark that far. Is there a consensus that any class of males performed at that time as do the females who are designated now as the flapper variety? Not that they were or are superior, but in the nature of things the male of the species is unequal to the requirements of flapperism as it is understood.

That Patagonian plesiosaurus, the alleged discovery of which intrigued the curious of the American continent and caused the scientists, or others of over-faith, to send an expedition from Buenos Aires to fetch it in, instead of being a survival from a prehistoric age, turns out to be such a decided myth that it is not even a good joke. This world is very modern in every sense.

Savannah affords a new angle in the jazz discussion. Other communities and a good many persons have disappeared of this class of noise, but it remained for this southern city to lead off in establishing a penalty for indulging in it. The city council there has declared jazz to be injurious to public morals, and enacted an ordinance by which a fine of $100 will be imposed on the hardy person who is caught at it.

This gives jazz a definite criminal status—so far as a municipal body can establish it.

A short time ago a McCormick girl attained publicity through her insistence on marrying a Swiss riding teacher three times her age. Now another gets in the spotlight through making her debut as an actress. Whatever a granddaughter of Rockefeller does is bound to intrigue the country; but there may be discussion as to which of the sisters has performed the most sensibly.

The public for a time is likely to be nonplussed by the action of Film Arbiters in canceling all Arbutle contracts, of which there is announced to have been nearly 10,000. There may be a summary conclusion from this that it has been decided that Roscoe is not coming back; but there is another possible explanation—that it is a scheme to create a demand for his pictures. That which is denied the populace it generally wants.

The Medford Mail-Tribune on a recent imbrolio: "Woodrow Wilson has finally set down upon the egotistical political upstart, Joseph P. Tumulty, the private secretary of the world and general regulator of humanity. Joe had an imaginary conversation with the ex-A. Lincoln the 2nd, which he used to further the presidential aspirations of James Middleton Cox. When the first-named has a son-in-law who might be induced to accept the Democratic nomination, if forced."

The New York Herald advises the champion: "Jack Dempsey, who has gone to Europe to look for a fight, will do well to avoid Belfast and Genoa, where the belligerents are in earnest."

The unpleasant odor which the entire Arbuckle case has left in the nostrils of the public will not be dissipated by the admission that the plea insisted by the jury in behalf of the defendant was the work of one of his attorneys.—Sacramento Bee.

We take it very unkindly of those Chico fellows that they never sent out the concluding chapter of the story of their rock-throwing ghost.—Reading Searchlight.

Readers of last evening's Bee must have been amused by the long list of "deputies" appointed by Sheriff Ellis Jones during the past year. His practice of not refusing a deputyship if the person or other asks for it—Klanman or otherwise—may think it would be of benefit to the applicant, is highly entertaining.—Sacramento Bee.

about YOUR HEALTH

How You Can Overcome Danger of Nervous Breakdown

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Too many brain workers suffer from what is called a "nervous breakdown."

If you "live on your nerves" you are in danger of disastrous results. This means you are neglecting the ordinary rules of right living. You are going without sleep. You are eating irregularly. You are neglecting your digestion and bodily functions. You are going without exercise.

"Jumpy nerves" mean more than nervousness, as this term is understood. If you are well and are taking care of yourself, you will not be nervous or jumpy.

Of course we differ temperamentally. But it is a pretty thin excuse for bad manners to ask to be excused because you are "temperamental." When I run into a "temperamental" person I suspect that I am dealing with the only child of indulgent parents. The more children are taught to mind, the less "temperamental" they are likely to be.

When you correct your manner of living, go to bed at a reasonable hour, get plenty of fresh air and eat sensible food your nerves will take care of themselves.

I wish every child in school could be given breathing exercises twice a day. Right breathing and an abundance of fresh air are essential to health.

When you realize that all the blood you have runs through your lungs every five minutes, you come to appreciate how important Nature considers your breathing apparatus.

Your blood is not sufficiently aerated unless your lungs are regularly and deeply inflated. You cannot have clean blood and firm tissues without an abundance of air. It must be pure air. Vitiated and smoke-laden air will not answer.

To my mind the evil effects of tobacco smoking have been exaggerated, but the evil effects of inhaling tobacco can never be overstated. There is little oxygen to be derived from tobacco-laden air. If you fill your blood with nicotine instead of filling it with oxygen, you do yourself serious harm.

How dark and dreadful are those wakeful hours between midnight and daybreak. The world seems filled with gloom during these endless hours.

Excessive smoking, lack of fresh air, lack of exercise, and neglect of the stomach and intestines will render you sleepless. The next stage after sleeplessness is the nervous breakdown.

The point I wish to make is that such a breakdown can be dated back to physical disability. It is not the nervous system which is affected primarily—neglect of your body is the beginning of evil.

When you give your body the same care its owner gives a valuable race-horse you overcome all the symptoms of nervousness and will enjoy mental health as well as physical health.

THE PROSPECTOR.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

I have before me an editorial entitled "Related Recognition" from THE TRIBUNE of April 5, on the subject of prospecting.

There is a phase of the matter that you did not mention; it is not the lack of the "grubstake" that worries the prospector, he can usually get that, either by working for it, or from friends of limited means. The thing that has driven the prospector out of the field is the difficulty of doing anything with a prospect after it has been found.

The great bonanza deposits of the early days, where high-grade occurred "at the grass roots," not actually unworked development, but actually furnished funds for it, as one realizes upon going over the lists of properties belonging to heirs or estates of the men who were lucky enough to profit from those wonderful finds.

Now it is very rare to find a deposit that shows good ore on surface; it is done occasionally, but most of those things in our western states have been dug into these many years, and often abandoned. Suppose your prospector finds a vein that looks promising but shows no values at surface. He can sink on it to little lateral work, but that is his limit, unaided, and it takes a long time. Whom is he to go to for assistance?

Suppose that he knows the signs which indicate the possible existence of a great deposit of low grade copper ore, which may only be proved by drilling or sinking shafts. This takes money; much more money than the average individual or group can furnish; where is it to be found?

The revival of prospecting and the growth of the mining industry, depend upon the development of a new point of view on the part of the men who control the enterprises without which the enterprises must languish. They must be willing to share the risk of taking a mining chance to a greater extent than they have in the last two or three decades.

It is not necessary to seek distant fields; California is still a relatively new country, with much to be written in her mining history, and sooner or later capital will become available for the development of prospects on a business basis.

U. S. TO EXAMINE PLANS FOR DEPOT ON GOAT ISLAND

As a result of the recent decision of the United States Government to hold hearings in San Francisco on the proposed Key Route-Goat Island terminal, W. R. Alberger, general manager of the Key Route, announced today that additional men will be placed on the engineering force of the Key Route company to hasten the completion of all data concerning the project.

The plans contemplate the extension of the Key Route lines to Goat Island, and the establishment of a large union railroad terminal, providing special facilities for the handling of automobile traffic. With such a terminal established on Goat Island, the ferry trip to San Francisco will be cut by ten minutes, it is announced.

Alberger said the exact date of the hearings will be announced from Washington within a few days. He declared that, according to dispatches, all authorities, including President Harding, are deeply interested in the project.

Alberger said:

"It is known that Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover investigated the project on his recent visit to this coast, and that on his return to Washington he brought the matter to the attention of the president and cabinet. It is assumed that Secretary Hoover organized the proposition as of great commercial value and of great interest to his own department."

Alberger said that this far no obstacles have been encountered in the way of the project, but that in many respects, it had been found to be even simpler than at first believed. He said: "No opposition of any kind has been met with, and on both sides of the bay the project is regarded as a most logical solution of the transportation problem, especially as regards automobiles."

Alberger said that he could not make public the details of the plans in advance of the government hearings.

FOREIGNERS TO ADDRESS CLUBWOMEN

Six Nations Are Represented on Program at Annual Banquet of Alameda District of State Federation

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Fashion shows staged in the kitchen where merchants of the city furnish the equipment and clubwomen pose as models in gowns of appropriate types was urged this morning before the morning session of the Twentieth Century annual convention of Alameda district California Federation of Women's Clubs by Mrs. June Schloss Hadden, district chairman of home economics. Interest in kitchen affairs was offered by the leader as a direct means of uplifting standards of the American homes. A movement to obtain dates on the labels of canned goods was outlined.

"Let the men stay at home and take care of the babies for a while and let the women go out and play ball," urged Mrs. Hadden. "The world wants to laugh," she declared. "Let us help. As clubwomen we should study our city and business women of our city. We should be associated with the commercial organizations and the public affairs of the community in which we live."

PRICE INVESTIGATION.

Mrs. Gustavson suggested that the clubs adopt a systematic plan of seeking out and obtaining information on prices in their section. "The high cost of living in the city does not go into the pockets of the women in the country," Mrs. Mollie Bloom Plag, of Lancaster, state chairman of County Life, told the convention. "An investigation to why a pound of steak taken from a two-year-old cow is as high as a pound of fish crossing the ocean and eaten within three days should be made by clubwomen. The entire cattle industry is threatened despite the high prices we pay for meat."

"Any activity of intelligent women is more dangerous than the Bolshevism of the country," Mrs. E. C. Stewart, district chairman of education, charged.

Preservations of historic landmarks, conservation of laws, dormitories for the University of California, plans for "knowing your country," public finances, agriculture, and the foreign resident committee attention at the opening session yesterday.

With more than 200 delegates seated and as many more clubwomen and visitors crowding the auditorium when the convention was called to order, the "coming of age" meeting is the largest and will be the most determining of any held heretofore. From all parts of Alameda, Contra Costa, San Joaquin, California and Quolunne counties leaders have assembled to spend three days in a general discussion of "Citizenship."

"The stranger is a challenge to those who live here before he came," asserted Dr. Martin Meyer, of San Francisco, sounding the convention keynote in the inaugural address yesterday. "If we would have this stranger become American we must ourselves understand what we mean by being American and not place our Americanism open to challenge. I am afraid we have not our house in order and fail to make the proper impression upon the stranger within our gates."

FUTURE AMERICANS.

"A forcible and legal Americanization is a mockery and defeats its own ends," he told the clubwomen. "We must give the immigrant faith in our ideals. Ward politics were here before he came."

"Because a man is dressed in American clothing and uses American words does not make him vote

Their "Coming of Age"

The convention of Alameda District, C. F. W. C., has assembled several hundred club leaders in the Twentieth Century clubhouse of Berkeley in three-day conference on citizenship. Among the leaders who are taking a prominent part in the birthday party are: (left to right) upper, MRS. R. A. BERRY, president of the hostess club; MRS. CLAUDE LEACH, Walnut Creek, past district president. (Lower) MRS. EDWIN POND JAMES, Alameda, chairman of the international banquet; MRS. GEORGE A. RIGG, district chairman and presiding officer.

straight on election day nor loyal to this country. Out of the raw material which has come to our shores we are molding the Americans of the future."

"Know Your Country" will become the slogan of the Alameda County Federation of Women's Clubs, according to the report of its president, Mrs. L. R. Rosenberg of Hayward. County institutions, industries, finances and educational projects are to be thoroughly studied within the next year. "A plan for 'selling' the district to eastern women will be launched. Departments in civics and public health will be established."

Historical spots in the Berkeley country will be preserved and forest areas preserved in the Calaveras-Tahoe National Park. A pamphlet with map showing the places of historic and scenic interest is being prepared by the women for distribution to vacationists. Special work is being done along the lines of maintaining enforcement of fish and game laws in the Sierra region.

BETTER FILMS SHOWN.

Cooperated with the moving picture house men in San Joaquin county is resulting in exhibition of better films. According to the report of Mrs. J. D. Castle, president of the County Federation, the film of the Twentieth Century club, which is hosted to the convention, extended the formal program. Mrs. Otto Mounson responded on behalf of the delegates. Grangers were extended by Mrs. Aaron Schloss, past president, C. F. W. C.; Mrs. Claude Leach, Mrs. John C. Lynch, Mrs. Fisher Clark, Mrs. Julia Foster, past presidents of Alameda district; Mrs. Mollie Bloom Plag, of Lancaster, state chairman of County Life; Mrs. D. W. Mott, Santa Paula, state chairman of Endowment; Mrs. Finlay Cook, state chairman of press; Miss Edna B. Kinard, representing the local press.

Of the 6,000,000 engaged in agriculture, one-quarter are bankrupt and another one-quarter on the verge of bankruptcy, according to Mrs. Flagg. Refusal to become "dirt farmers" on the part of young people was resulting in a crisis, she declared.

PROGRAM OF BANQUET.

Six nations will be represented on the program of the annual banquet which will assemble several hundred in the Derby street club home tonight. Mrs. Edwin Pond James, district chairman of Citizenship, has arranged the after dinner toast.

Senor Zertuche, consul-general of Mexico; Consul Yada of Japan; Dr. Lee, a Chinese physician; Mr. Olivieri, an Italian attorney; Mrs. Kathryn Skobina, Judge-Savilian woman; and J. R. S. Leite, a Portuguese who is on a mission for his government, will be the speakers. Among the

VICE CHARGE OF KLAN OLD, HARDIE SAYS

Information From Ku Klux on Oakland Conditions to Be Turned Over to Officers, Commissioner Says

Information of alleged vice conditions in Oakland and other East Bay centers, as supplied by the Ku Klux Klan to Albert H. Hardie, United States commissioner, will be turned over by that official to the federal authorities and to the moral squad.

This statement was made today by Commissioner Hardie who, in common with District Attorney Ezra Decoto and Commissioner Frank Colburn, was made the recipient of a Ku Klux Klan communication yesterday, in which these officers were called upon to co-operate with the Oakland committee of the Klan in suppressing blind-pigs, road houses, questionable poolrooms and disorderly houses.

NOTHING NEW MENTIONED.

Commissioner Hardie states that the so-called evidence submitted by the Klan under cover of its letter does not contain anything that is new or startling to the authorities. For the most part, he said, it deals with places that have been investigated and frequently raided by the authorities, and that continue to be under strict surveillance.

Discussing the Klan's communication, Commissioner Hardie said: "There seems to be a conscious impression as to the functions of my office, and I take this opportunity to correct it. The office of the United States commissioner is not charged with the duty of investigating and prosecuting whether or not the evidence submitted warrants prosecution."

STATEMENT BY DECOTO.

District Attorney Decoto said: "This is entirely a police matter for the authorities of Oakland and Emeryville and does not concern my jurisdiction. My duty is to prosecute after action has been taken by the police. I have only two defects on my staff, and my work is not that of the police, whose duty it is to investigate and bring offenders into their hands. Of course I am glad to receive any information which I will turn over to the authorities concerned."

The letters of the Klan were typewritten on the highly ornate letterhead of the "Invisible Empire" and marked "Department of Propagation."

Chief of Police James T. Drew stated today that he had not received a letter from the Ku Klux Klan. The chief said that he would always be pleased to receive information of any violation of the law, from any citizen or organization.

He added:

"One thing, however, I will not stand for, and that is mob rule. Since I have been in office I have done everything in my power to make this a clean city. The Oakland police are enforcing the law and will continue to do so."

VIEWS OF COLBURN.

"There is no necessity for any such anonymous letters," said Colburn today. "Anyone with evidence which will help clean up the town morally is welcome here. He does not have to send anonymous letters signed by any Ku Klux Klan or anyone else."

"I have an idea that for the next two weeks or so the futile bootleggers and gamblers will be unusually wary, but beyond this I can see no use for such public communications to officials. They merely stir up the lawbreakers and make the latter nervous for a time. They do not cure the evil."

"It will be noted that the Ku Klux letter contains no threats but merely gives the names of persons alleged to be breaking the law. Such tips are entirely unobjectionable, of course, the same as any other hints are followed up in case there may be a grain of truth in them. But anonymous communications are not given the same standing as signed letters, and a Ku Klux letter must naturally fall in that category."

"The whole business may be a fake, pure and simple. Somebody may have an axe to grind. Any idiot can print a lot of Ku Klux Klan letterheads and deluge the officials with warnings and secret evidence."

SAN JOAQUIN TOWNS LAUD OAKLAND AID

Trade Excursionists Find City's Efforts to Better Shipping and Handling of Products Are Appreciated

Special to THE TRIBUNE

VISALIA, April 20.—The San Joaquin is a country to draw and breed men of vision. It is a land of visible cause for wonder and astonishment. If this trade extension and get-acquainted trip does not more than dispel the idea that the lack of water in the inland empire of Central and Northern California is a vast plain waiting development, it will have served its purpose.

"Oakland can recognize us as factors in the development of this state. It can identify us individually. Remember those things which we produce and encourage the consumption of California grown produce in its market. This is what Fowler, Selma, Kingsburg and Visalia told the Eastbay delegation today."

Today was one of comparative brief stops in some of the smaller cities, a day of genuine home welcome and of expressions of goodwill and fellowship. Here are cities which have recently won a place of distinction. They have sprung to a vigorous life with the natural flow of fruit and with the application of water to the deep and rich loam. Newly organized chambers of commerce, new public work, pride in highways and schools and amazing plans for the future reflect the optimistic attitude in the San Joaquin.

FINANCIALLY IMPRESSIVE.

Realization by the San Joaquin valley that this excursion is no mere trainload of salesmen or professional boosters, but a representative gathering of leaders in industry, has added zest to the reception. Some one has figured it out that by counting everyone, the average man on the train represents $300,000 in capital and that more than $50,000,000 is the financial impressiveness of the valley. A scrutiny of books has disclosed the fact that Oakland money is invested in irrigation land and power projects here and that vast sums of money are saved in the cost of the valley by the influence of Oakland men in bettering shipping and handling conditions where rail meets creek. The valley is quick to give credit where credit is due. There is general praise given the Oakland Chamber of Commerce for support given to various undertakings, legislative programs and special celebrations.

WILLING TO CO-OPERATE.

These points and others expressed by men in the valley cities are proof of the willingness and desire on the part of the San Joaquin to co-operate with industry and in any way in which the mutual welfare may be advanced. Summed up, the feelings, "You have neglected us a little in the past, perhaps, but now that you have discovered us, you will find us enthusiastic in any plan to bring natural friends closer together. At the same time do not think we are unappreciative of what Oakland has done."

McAdoo Dodges Query Regarding Political Plans

WILLIAM C. McADOO of Pasadena stood on the after deck of an Oakland ferry last night. "Aren't you interested in the presidency?" asked a newspaperman.

"You know, the other day a fellow gave me a set of fluffy cowboy chips because he thought I was interested in cowboys," replied McAdoo.

idea won immediate response from Charles A. Foster, editor of the Ensign.

"Oakland can help us by obtaining for us new needed business houses. If you will tell the world that Oakland is a drygoods store and a men's wear store we will appreciate it."

Foster extended the greetings of his city and assured the delegation that Oakland was held in high regard by his community. This is the second largest shipping point for raisins.

Selma treated the guests to an automobile ride over the surrounding territory. More immense packing houses were visited. E. L. Evans, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, piloted the party and a large group of citizens was on hand to extend greetings.

GREETED BY SCUMMERS.

Kingsburg put a touch of color in their greeting when the men of the party were met by a group of Scummers, who presented raisins to all on board. Another auto tour was enjoyed. Mayor John Erickson came here 35 years ago as a delegate to select a place for a group of friends to settle. He chose Kingsburg, the friends followed and today he is retired on the wealth which came from the soil.

At Visalia last night there was a smoky, dance and entertainment under the auspices of the Visalia Times and Chamber of Commerce. The delegation had a song ready and was given a big hand when it was sprung.

Among Mayor James Burke, Charles A. Whitmore, member of the highway commission, and M. E. Poer were among those who assured the Eastbay men of the pleasure with which Visalia greeted them. As a rousing welcome and to the reception, some one has figured it out that by counting everyone, the average man on the train represents $300,000 in capital and that more than $50,000,000 is the financial impressiveness of the valley. A scrutiny of books has disclosed the fact that Oakland money is invested in irrigation land and power projects here and that vast sums of money are saved in the cost of the valley by the influence of Oakland men in bettering shipping and handling conditions where rail meets creek. ## BANDITS ROB S. F. TAILORS OF GEM, COIN

Two Robbers Hold Up Proprietor of Shop and Helper, Take $1500 Diamond Ring, Money; Get Away

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—While thousands of commuters were passing two landladies held up Harry Lewin, proprietor of the Gordon Tailoring Company, 334 Market street, shortly before 9 o'clock this morning, bound him and David Lamella, a tailor, and escaped with valuables to the amount of $1570.

Lewin had just opened his place and was about to start work when the two men entered and immediately exhibited revolvers.

"First take off that ring and then open the safe," one of them demanded. The ring, containing a $1500 diamond, had evidently attracted the eyes of the pair on some previous occasion. Lewin handed it over and informed them that the safe was open. Nevertheless they compelled him to swing the door, which he did. They then took $70 in currency from his pockets, tied him up and laid him on the floor in the back room. With a hammer they then proceeded to open several drawers. While this was going on Lamella, an employee, arrived. He was bound and laid beside his employer. There was nothing in the drawers forced open and after a hasty search the men departed. As soon as they could untie their bonds, accomplished by one aiding the other, Lewin and Lamella notified the police.

Brave, But Also Reasonable

Frank Smith, who pitched a few years ago for Cincinnati in the National League, was reared at Tarboro, North Carolina, and began playing baseball there. He became the baseball idol of his fellow-Tarborians, and when Geo. Leidy, later manager of the San Antonio team in the Texas League, went to the town to lure the young phenomenon into faster company, the whole community showed their resentment very decidedly, because with their pitcher gone the home team would go to pieces.

"I was in my room at the hotel," said Leidy, telling about it. "when a dozen husky, determined-looking citizens walked in on me and began making threats. They told me that Frank Smith was going to stay right where he was and that if I wanted to go on living I'd better catch a train leaving for the north at 7:30 o'clock that night."

"What did you say to that?" asked a listener. "I told them," said Leidy, "to go to thunder. I told them that I was a free-born American citizen and that I would stay there a year if I wanted to. I told them in so many words that they couldn't bluff me. I told them that I would die in my tracks before I would show the white feather—and I was down at the depot at a quarter of seven, waiting."

Uncle Wiggly

And so has my machine! Uncle Wiggly finished.

UNCLE WIGGLY AND BILLIE'S TAIL.

Uncle Wiggly had not been out riding in his automobile for a long time. All through the winter the roads were covered with snow, and as you all know, it is hard for the rubbered wheels to keep from slipping in the soft stuff. But now the paths through the woods were once more green and firm, and the bunny gentleman felt like a new man, and was out riding again.

"Yes, sir," thought Uncle Wiggly, as he glanced out of his bedroom window one day. "This is just the time for an auto ride." He felt so gay that he shuffled around the room on the soft, dry carpet, and all of a sudden, as the end of his little stubby tail touched the steam radiator, there came a snap, a little spark appeared, and the bunny felt a shock, as though a pin had pricked him.

Child's History of the HUMAN RACE

by Raymond Coffman

What Happened to the Dead

This is part of a series of narratives about the life of mankind that will continue throughout the year.

THE FIRST PEOPLE must have been careless of what they did with the bodies of comrades who died. They doubtless threw the bodies into rivers and lakes, or else tossed them into bushes. The idea was to get rid of people who could no longer work or talk. Then people became more thoughtful of dead persons. Affection found its way into the breasts of savage men, and they became sorry when a friend or relative died.

They buried the corpses instead of tossing them to one side. The thoughts of men were finally turned upon the question of death. People began to wonder why their comrades died. There was no answer.

Death was silent. Men were dissatisfied about the silence. They began to guess that some of their dead decided that the dead person would wake up at a later time. It might be many years before the waking would occur, but it would surely come, they thought.

In order to prepare for this awakening, Stone Age people began to bury things with dead persons. These things were weapons, ornaments, sometimes even food. The idea was to make things pleasant for the person who had awoken either in this world or in a world of spirits.

Let us take a few examples of such burials. In a cave near Montfermeil, France, was found the skeleton of a man who lived in the middle portion of the Stone Age. This man was only 5 feet 3 inches tall. The persons who buried him stretched out his limbs so that he lay at full length. They placed around his neck a circle of pretty shells, and by his side they laid a large number of beautifully worked flint tools and weapons. Two babies buried in the same cave were covered with dainty shells at the time of burial. The head of the tall man in the same cave was adorned with a circle of shells which had been chipped from bones.

Chipped stones were carefully placed on his forehead and chest. Hundreds of other Stone Age skeletons buried in much the same way have been found.

Tomorrow I shall tell of how a little girl made a great discovery about the Stone Age.

Winifred Black Saus

Dear Winifred Black Saus: Why is it that the selfish person gets the most pleasure, benefit, and friends? I am beginning to question this. I hope you will be so kind as to answer all my "whys."

My experience has been that the more selfish one is the more one gets out of life. Why, then, continue giving all the time and money to a poor person? It is so discouraging.

You say that "goodness and selfishness always pay the highest dividends." I suppose so, but oh, I wish I could cut some of the coupons now, while I am young!

Being 21 is so dreadfully hard if one can't have a "good time." It seems as if I just ought to have my share of pleasure, but somehow I don't, that's all.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS

by ANDRE TRIDON
INSANE ASYLUMS

With the exception of one, Saint Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D. C., where the patients are actually treated by the most modern methods, insane asylums are rather secluded to keep the patients from coming into contact with the outside world.

Every patient who is intelligent enough and whose insanity has not deteriorated should be treated individually several hours a week by a psychiatrist who would bring insight into his mind, reeducate him and adapt him gradually to life in the world which had proved to be his hospital place. Every patient should be trained in some way to become a useful member of society.

This would naturally require an enormous expense, an enormous increase in the number of physicians, nurses, vocational instructors and the like. But what an investment it would be! Think of all the lives that could be saved. And as the number of patients would decrease rapidly after the first year or so the annual cost would after a number of years become insignificant. According to Kempf, the authority on this subject, eighty percent of all the insane could be reclaimed in this way.

Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World!

IN H. G. Wells' book, "Marriage," there is a very interesting little talk on "Social Shapes." Did you ever stop to think about your social shape, Paul? Have you considered yourself by your build and looks? The ideal you—what's it like?

"What a queer thing the invisible being would appear if we were toward upon an eternal progress toward perfection," for years taught in California by a well-known professor of Christian philosophy, the best ancient, modern and the modern, the old Bible and the new scriptures are pretty well agreed, and they all present us with a picture of a perfect man. We have never known him, but we have seen the problems of life and death. Two often we talk of our death, or separation, our lack of faith in the eternal verities. It is a wonder we have not been around the sun, that the sun is other than a little ball of fire a few miles away. For most of us never prove these things scientifically for ourselves, we have to take them on faith, because they are taught by those who are wiser than we. It is still more important, if we wish to feel satisfied as to this life and the future, that we have not only faith, but more than hope, that we have the intuition of immortality, that we give a little time and study (there are some very sure signs of going about it) to achieve faith in our own progress, as well as in the movement of the earth on which we dwell, in getting that wisdom which the scriptures bid us be sure to attain. For without it the thought of death brings us our doubts, our fears, our darkness of spirit, our error. How sad, how tragic, that we seek so many material things, but too often, do not seek out something "supernatural" but the higher science, the higher knowledge which would enable us to face in full security and contentment that withdrawal of material things which we call death.

"A Mother of Four" gave us all the plucky details of a spanking which she administered to her fourteen-year-old daughter for smoking and lying about it. Jerry considered the incident abominable and said so. All the while, the mother seems to me a brutal and stupid method of discipline, but the spanking of a fourteen-year-old girl—woman in body, and probably as mature as the average woman in mind—seems to me the same as the beating of another adult, and just about the most disgusting that could be confessed. Jerry spared no words in saying so. Comes now another mother who is frightfully put out because of Jerry's rudeness.

"Dear Geraldine: "Nothing in all of your pages has ever stirred me as yours of yesterday, where you defend Dottie and condemn "Mother of Four." As for Dottie she is absolutely too silly to realize what marriage means when she lets her smoking habit be of such importance.

"But this is what I want to get at. How can a woman speak in such a despicable way to another woman as you did to "Mother of Four" in Sunday's paper. Do you realize how you have hurt that mother's feelings? She had troubles enough with a daughter like Dottie, and you have taken her attitude you do (which I doubt), how can the poor mother do anything with the girl. "Mother of Four" has my sympathy.

"I have a boy fifteen years old and he would not smoke because he knows his parents are not in favor of it. We think more of his health and don't you think he has a desire for adventure, he has, but why not clean and healthy ones.

"You have sometimes urged for a healthier race. How is it going to be done if you let the girls think they can smoke as well as the men? I am not old-fashioned but I love womanly girls.

"P. S.—If you do not care to publish this letter, kindly mail same to "Mother of Four."

So their feelings mustn't "be hurt" no matter what they do! On the same principle, I suppose, if a murderer told of his crime through this column you'd have me offer him a reward and a case of beauty. I consider that mother's attitude as real a violation of human rights as murder. It is a difference in degree only—not in quality. I don't defend smoking or lying, but I do not think that fatherly beatings were corrected by a savage display of brute emotion such as that mother practiced. By the time a girl has reached fourteen there is just one thing that will bring her through to fine womanhood—her own sense of pride and her own love of beauty and decency. If a mother has so utterly failed that she can't appeal to her through that avenue she has no right to register that failure by mauling her daughter's flesh.

S. O. S.—You are not legally wed, but will have to have your marriage annulled before you are free. This is much simpler than a divorce. There is the record of marriage on file and the books will not be clear until this is annulled. If you and your hubby bothers you, and you want to, you can have him prosecuted for bigamy. That ought to settle him, don't you think? You can consult the Prosecution Attorney's office in the City Hall for further information.

Thanks to you for all your good wishes, and Jerry's hopes for your success.

VIERRA'S LEFT HAND PROVES TOO CRAFTY FOR FIGHTING TEDDY

Joe Lynch Defeats Dynamite Murphy and Jones and Kels ey Box a Draw.

By BOB SHAND.

Benny Vierra fought himself out of opponents last night at the Auditorium when he out-boxed Teddy O'Hara and romped off with the judges' decision. Vierra simply stuck his left hand in O'Hara's face for a round and a half meantime piling up three million points. In the middle of the second O'Hara didn't know he had a nose—it had been jabbed so often so in desperation he started to fight back. Vierra beat him to a left hand every time. Teddy tried to start something and to the surprise of the assembled population Benny even crossed Teddy with his right on several occasions. Nobody thought Vierra would pay any attention to his right hand as he was winning by a mile with his left and the right was needed to keep the O'Hara left hook away from the Vierra good looks but Bob McAllister advised his little battler to take a chance and show the customers that he is a good two-fisted fighter and Benny rocked his man three times.

With a big lead at the end of the second Vierra boxed a bit more carefully. O'Hara forced the fighting and tried hard to land a decisive wallop. When Teddy looked dangerous Benny hung on and refused to break until pulled off by the referee. However he was strictly within his rights and used his noodle in the well known pinch. O'Hara gets credit for forcing the fighting in the last two rounds, but a gent who forces his face into a million left hands gets nothing but the credit. Teddy put up a clean fight and proved the rules which rounds. WIRELESS WAVE

SPEED GREATER THAN SOUNDVelocity Is Same as That of Light—186,000 Miles
Each Second.

By EDWARD M. SARGENT.

Wireless waves travel much faster than sound waves, having the same velocity as waves of light, 186,000 miles (186,000 miles) per second. This is fast enough to take them around the earth seven and a half times in a second. Owing to this great velocity, the length of wireless waves is much greater than that of sound waves, even though the frequencies used are also higher.

In the case of the picture string, the "tuning" was done by changing the tension on the string. It can also be done by changing the length of the string. In radio, the "tuning" which means varying the frequency or the wave length received, is accomplished by changing the coils or the condensers in the circuit. Changing the length of the "electrical length" of the circuit.

Every radio receiving set, except the most elementary, must include some method of tuning. This is particularly important in a radio telephone receiving set, as in this case all outside interference must be eliminated.

WAVES MAKE SOUND.

Air waves of certain frequencies affect the ear and produce what we know as sound. Low frequency produces low notes, high frequency, high notes. The ear can "hear" any frequency between about 20 vibrations per second and 15,000 per second. 20 per second is a very low growl, 15,000 per second is a "squeak." As the frequencies used in radio are from 20,000 upward, it would be impossible to hear them if they were changed directly into sound waves. Some device must be put into the receiving set which will change the frequency of the radio current to one which is within the range of the ear. The device used to do this is known as the "detector."

DEPENDS ON DISTANCE.

After the received current has passed through the detector, it has the right characteristics to operate the head telephone receiver and produce sound. How loud the sound is depends upon how much current is passing through the detector and this in turn, depends on the distance that the receiving station is from the transmitter. If this distance is very great, the sound produced will be weak and some arrangement will have to be used to increase the current without changing its characteristics. The same problem is encountered in long telegraph lines, and there it was solved by the use of the relay. The relay is an instrument somewhat similar in appearance to the familiar telegraph sounder or "tapper," and is operated by the weak line current. Every time it "ticks," the relay automatically throws additional battery onto the line at the point where it is installed, and thus greatly increases or "amplifies" the line current.

In radio a relay is also used for weak signals. The radio relay is called an "amplifier," and while it does the same work as the telegraph relay, it is thousands of times more sensitive. If the radio signals are very weak, or if a greater amount of power is desired from them, two, three or four relays may be used successively to increase the power. A single relay is called a "one step amplifier," two relays working in succession a "two step amplifier," etc. (Continued Tomorrow.)

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I received the hook-up you sent me and put it to use at once. I have been wondering what kind of storage battery to use, of what amperes. I read of the parts offered free in The TRIBUNE and I saw the 20-ampere hour, 6-volt battery. Would that be the right style to use with my vacuum tube?

Please do not print my name. AMBITIOUS AMATEUR.

Yes, a 20-ampere-hour battery would be O. K. The idea is this: the higher the amperes hour of the battery the less frequently you will have to charge it.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I have a Murdock double slide tuning coil, a crystal detector, a fixed condenser and a pair of 2200 Federal phones. My aerial is of two wires, 25 feet long. My ground wire is 25 feet long. I can hear Rockridge and Hotel Oakland plainly, but all I can get from the other stations is a hum. What can I do to remedy this?

2. If I put a spider web coil or honeycomb coils on the aerial, would it be any louder? Where can I get an up-to-date list of call numbers of the bay district?

NUMBER NO. 622, Berkeley.

1. Not knowing anything about the aerial conditions under which your set is connected, can not say. A change of coils would likely do no good. You can, however, inspect all antenna joints and see that all are soldered, and that all connections are bright and clean.

2. No, I can not give you a list of call numbers at any radio store, but they are not up-to-date.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I have just received my membership card in The TRIBUNE Radio Club and am anxious to get it set up. Can you secure one of The TRIBUNE's audio sets complete?

MEMBER TRIBUNE RADIO CLUB.

At the Western Radio Electric Company's new store at the corner of Franklin and Twelfth streets, Oakland.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) Will it bother my set if I put my aerial near to other boy's antenna?

2. What improvements are you going to make on the 37 sets?

3. I saw in the Mid-week Pictorial where a man uses the power lines for an antenna by putting a plug into an electric light socket. Is this method with the set. How does he do it?

4. How much would a 2000-ohm phone be?

5. How much would a loose coupler cost?

6. Could I make a secondary and not use the coil on The TRIBUNE set and get good results?

FRANK PARKER JR., 2127 Vicksburg street, Oakland.

1. Not if you both use crystal receiving sets.

2. Improvements in the hook-up, 3. Plugging in on a power line is not practical for the average amateur. Better keep away from it.

4. $5.00.

5. $3.00.

6. No. The TRIBUNE crystal set does not lend itself to this sort of alteration.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: Would a set of storage batteries be better than dry cells for my "B" battery? If so, where can they be obtained and at what price? What equipment should I use to charge them? Where can I purchase a storage battery for my filament?

J. O. TURNER, Box 237, Oakland.

Storage "B" batteries may be obtained from the Edison Company, First street, San Francisco. Some sort of mechanical or tube rectifier would be necessary to charge them. There are a number of these rectifiers on the market and they may be obtained at any radio store. As the price of rectifiers and storage "B" batteries, however, it would be cheaper to use the dry battery. You can obtain a filament battery from the Down-town Battery Company, 318 Fourteenth street.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I have an audio detector with a short wave regenerative and would like to know whether I could hear the bay concerts from Sacramento with a four-wire aerial over my automobile about 3 1/2 feet wide and 10 feet long and about 10 feet from the ground? Could I use the engine for the ground?

CLARENCE TAYLOR.

No, you would not be able to hear them. Yes, the motor can be used as a ground.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) Is it possible to secure back numbers of "Fifteen Minutes of Radio"?

2. Are you going to publish more radio amateur calls?

3. Would you publish the call starting from 6:00 A. M. to date if there were a few requests?

4. What is the greatest receiving distance covered with an ordinary crystal set, and who did it?

LAURENCE THOMAS, 2250 Buena Vista ave., Oakland.

1. Later on, the entire set of lessons may be printed for distribution.

2. Yes, next Sunday.

3. Not in The TRIBUNE, for there are too many of them. Best to wait and get an up-to-date call list as soon as one is out.

4. Six thousand miles has been covered with a crystal set. Signals on 600 meters have been copied in Oklahoma harbor from San Francisco, using a crystal set. The name is not in the record.

Phonograph music programs are to be a thing of the past with The TRIBUNE radio broadcasting station. Hereafter first class music, furnished by some of the best known and popular musicians of the bay district, is to be broadcasted. In addition to the instrumental music planned, an effort will be made to secure first class vocal numbers. Those who heard Miss Effie Roda Steindorff sing "I Love You California," last Tuesday evening, realize what this class of entertainment means to them after listening for months to "canned music."

Tomorrow evening The TRIBUNE will be on the air from 7:15 to 8:15, having traded time with Rockridge. Ernie Milliken and his U. C. jazz orchestra, a regular feature at the New Franklin theater, will furnish the entertainment, the program of which will be announced tomorrow.

1. Fourteen new three months' subscriptions.

2. See diagram in yesterday's TRIBUNE.

3. This would depend upon how efficiently it is hooked up; possibly 20 miles.

4. The same distance.

5. You can buy honeycomb coils more cheaply than you can get them. Spider webs may be constructed by winding 35 turns of No. 22 cotton covered wire on a piece of cardboard in flat spiral form; that is, one turn on top of the other. Stick the wire to the cardboard with shellac or other adhesive mixture. Use in the same manner as honeycombs.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: As a member of the Radio TRIBUNE Club I would like to have the following questions answered:

1. Could a loading coil of 20,000 meters be attached to a variometer set?

2. Would taps or a slider be better for varying the wave length of this loading coil?

3. Which is the best for an aerial, one, two, three or four wires?

4. What would be the best length for the style of aerial you recommend?

STANLEY CARPENTER, Oakley, Cal.

1. No, this would not be practical to load a variometer set with one 20,000 meter coil. Better use honeycombs for long waves.

2. Taps would be better.

3. This would depend upon the length. If 150 feet long use two, if 60 use four.

4. Two wires 75 feet in length make a very good receiving antenna.

TRIBUNE TO RADIO
NO MORE 'CANNED
MUSIC' PROGRAMS

Best-Known Instrumentalists of Bay District Will Furnish Programs.

Phonograph music programs are to be a thing of the past with The TRIBUNE radio broadcasting station. Hereafter first class music, furnished by some of the best known and popular musicians of the bay district, is to be broadcasted. In addition to the instrumental music planned, an effort will be made to secure first class vocal numbers. Those who heard Miss Effie Roda Steindorff sing "I Love You California," last Tuesday evening, realize what this class of entertainment means to them after listening for months to "canned music."

Tomorrow evening The TRIBUNE will be on the air from 7:15 to 8:15, having traded time with Rockridge. Ernie Milliken and his U. C. jazz orchestra, a regular feature at the New Franklin theater, will furnish the entertainment, the program of which will be announced tomorrow.

1. Fourteen new three months' subscriptions.

2. See diagram in yesterday's TRIBUNE.

3. This would depend upon how efficiently it is hooked up; possibly 20 miles.

4. The same distance.

5. You can buy honeycomb coils more cheaply than you can get them. Spider webs may be constructed by winding 35 turns of No. 22 cotton covered wire on a piece of cardboard in flat spiral form; that is, one turn on top of the other. Stick the wire to the cardboard with shellac or other adhesive mixture. Use in the same manner as honeycombs.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: As a member of the Radio TRIBUNE Club I would like to have the following questions answered:

1. Could a loading coil of 20,000 meters be attached to a variometer set?

2. Would taps or a slider be better for varying the wave length of this loading coil?

3. Which is the best for an aerial, one, two, three or four wires?

4. What would be the best length for the style of aerial you recommend?

STANLEY CARPENTER, Oakley, Cal.

1. No, this would not be practical to load a variometer set with one 20,000 meter coil. Better use honeycombs for long waves.

2. Taps would be better.

3. This would depend upon the length. If 150 feet long use two, if 60 use four.

4. Two wires 75 feet in length

NEW ARMORY TO HAVE ELABORATE
RADIO OUTFIT

Regular Signal Corps Set
With Range of 1000 Miles
To Be Installed.

One of the most elaborate radio sets of the Eastbay region will be installed in the new National Guard armory, Twenty-third street near Grove, when the new military headquarters are opened next month. The apparatus is to be installed by the Headquarters company of the First Separate Battalion, Field Artillery, California National Guard, under the direction of Major Harry F. Huber, commanding officer.

Radio work is one of the special lines of duty for the headquarters company of a field artillery regiment, and in the past few years this work has been made the subject of study and development.

The battalion headquarters of the California National Guard, located in Oakland, will be equipped with the most modern type of apparatus.

The equipment will include the regular Signal Corps radio outfit, which is known as Type S. C. 67. This has a detector and two-step amplifier and loud speaker.

The transmitting device includes two 5-watt tubes and a telephone set. The aerial will be 20 feet high and 75 feet in length, with a radius of about 1000 miles. It will be operated by a detachment of ten men trained for field work under charge of Sergeant Sam C. Houston.

When completed and ready for operation, the apparatus will be so arranged as to fill the main drill room, 80x100 feet, with music for concerts and drills when the National Guard units move into their new headquarters next month.

Benefit Arranged
To Aid Milk Fund

Vaudeville, music, character impersonations and moving pictures will feature the program which Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs will sponsor tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Technical high school. The organization has assumed the responsibility of meeting the cost of the mid-morning breakfasts which are being provided in the public schools. A deficit of $1000 in the milk fund is being met by the federation. The entertainment has been arranged as a benefit to this debt.

Ten thousand gallons of milk were served to school children in the nutrition program, according to records of the school department.

LESSON NO. 33.
Rectification by Crystal Detector.

The crystal detector in the circuit of the radio receiver performs the important function of converting the energy of the radio-frequency oscillations, intercepted by the antenna, into uni-directional pulsating currents which may be rendered audible by the receiving telephones.

Short wave lengths involve very high frequency of oscillation. For example, the oscillation frequency of a wave length of 200 meters is 1,500,000 cycles per second, a wave length of 600 meters has a frequency of 500,000 cycles per second, these frequencies being far in excess of vibrations to which the delicate mechanism of the human ear will respond.

The limiting frequency of vibration to which the ear will respond is approximately 16,000 cycles per second, and under normal conditions a frequency in the vicinity of 10,000 cycles per second marks the boundary line between audibility and inaudibility.

The range of frequencies in which the sensitive diaphragm of the telephone vibrates satisfactorily is much lower, between 500 and 1000 cycles per second.

The crystal detector, therefore, through its property of rectification, transforms the high frequency oscillations into direct current pulses, which are rendered audible in the receiving telephones.

The manner in which the incoming oscillations are modified may be best understood by reference to the following diagram:

A

The upper set of curves (A) shows a series of damped radio-frequency oscillations intercepted by the antenna and impressed upon the detector. The set of curves (B) shows the rectifying property of the crystal in allowing only the positive or negative currents to pass through the crystal with the result that half of each cycle is wiped out and the incoming oscillations are rectified into a series of uni-directional pulsations. These pulsations are a radio-frequency and, therefore, far in excess of vibrations to which the diaphragm of the telephone can respond, but the resultant effect is shown in curves (C) which show the average effect of each rectified group in impulsing the diaphragm of the receiving telephones.

In the case of a spark discharger, therefore, for every group of radio-frequency oscillations radiated by the transmitter, a similar group is developed in the receiver and rectified by the detector and for each group the diaphragm of the receiving telephones receives an impulse.

U. S. RADIO PAMPHLET.

Complete instructions for the building of a radio receiving set have been issued this week by the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, from Washington, D. C. This book is issued by the Radio Bureau of the Department of Commerce and contains much data of interest and value to the amateur.

REAL RADIO "NUT."

The railroad agent at Port Jervis was approached by a badly scared man who complained that he had a "bad case of radio waves" and did not know what to do with them. The police department was called and when he had properly insulated the complainant a pair of keepers from the Binghamton State Hospital for the insane accompanied their charge back to his "radio wave proof castle."

RADIO AND PLANE
ADD TO TRIBUNE'S
NEWS GATHERING

Wireless Phone Will Be Used by Aviator in Covering
Wrecks, Forest Fires.

The TRIBUNE has added another unit to its extensive news-gathering organization. To the Clark-TRIBUNE airplane, which is used whenever speed is necessary, there is to be added a radio-telephone transmitting set, which will enable The TRIBUNE to "hop" out on any news event, such as a forest fire, the scene of a sinking ship at sea, or anything else that can be observed from the air, and report it back in record time far ahead of any other method of communication.

With the new arrangement, everything will be done by air. Observations will be made from the plane and what is seen below will be telephoned back to The TRIBUNE radio station. Special arrangements are being made to try out this latest addition to The TRIBUNE's news gathering organization.

It was once quite a problem for mothers to keep their boys off the streets. Now they look on the roofs for them.

Insist upon Kellogg's
the original Corn Flakes
—they're wonderful

"Say, Maizie, I hope you don't have any bites while you're eating Kellogg's Corn Flakes, 'cause I like Kellogg's Corn Flakes so much that the fish will get away!"

Kellogg's flavor and Kellogg's crispness are so different that there can be no comparison between Kellogg's Corn Flakes and imitations.

Little folks quickly say, "Get Kellogg's, Mother—please," because Kellogg's are never tough or leathery or hard to eat! Kellogg's are always so delicious that big bowls quickly disappear and eager little mouths appeal for more! And big folks appreciate the superiority of Kellogg's because their flavor is so inviting. Kellogg's are wonderful!

Insist upon Kellogg's—the kind in the RED and GREEN box that bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Kellogg's Corn Flakes. NONE ARE GENUINE WITHOUT IT!

Six new ways to improve your meals

Many an ordinary dish can be made different and better by the addition of S&W Marmalade. Here are some, for instance; paste them in your menu book.

- add a couple of tablespoons of S&W Marmalade to ginger bread batter. It gives the ginger bread a better texture and a keener flavor.
- pumpkin pie tastes more like pumpkin pie when you put a spoonful of S&W Marmalade in the custard before baking.
- a little S&W Marmalade gives just the right appetizing flavor to fruit cocktails.
- plain or hard pudding sauce is also much improved by the same method.
- when you serve ice cream top it with S&W Marmalade and you have a delectable Sundae.
- make a Marmalade Roll tomorrow. A Marmalade Roll is made like a jelly roll, but with a marmalade filling which gives it a richer, finer flavor.

You'll find dozens of other ways to use S&W Marmalade. It is good any way. It is made by a special recipe—with the juice of big navel oranges and the golden part of the peel—no pulp. Besides, it carries the S&W label—an assurance of extra quality and satisfaction.

S&W Marmalade is only one of many S&W Products. They are sold by high class grocers.
